U.S. Planes Bomb MIG Airfield Near Haiphong

Two Power Plants, One In City, Hit

Red Gunners Down One Skyhawk Jet; Pilot Is Missing

SAIGON (AP) — A powerful strike force from three U.S. aircraft carriers bombed a MIG airfield just outside the North Vietnamese port of Haiphong today and two of the city's thermal power plants, including one inside the city limits.

The raid just after noon cost one Skyhawk jet shot down by Red gunners — the 536th U.S. combat plane reported lost over North Vietnam. The pilot was missing.

The two power plants had been hit before on April 29, but the raid on the Kien An airfield 5½ miles southwest of Haiphong was the first against that MIG base. It was the third MIG base bombed by American warplanes.

The jets that raided the Haiphong area streaked off the flight decks of the carriers Enterprise, Hancock and Kitty Hawk.

Following the previous raids on the power stations, pilots reported the lights of North Vietnam's major port went out for one night.

The power plant inside Haiphong, in a northwest sector of the city, is part of an industrial complex which includes a cement plant that also has been bombed. The other power plant is just east of the Haiphong city limits.

The coordinated strikes from the three carriers were among the heaviest raids ever made on the Haiphong area.

The Kien An airfield is evidently one of the secondary bases for the North Vietnamese air force's jets. A spokesman said MIGs had been seen operat-

Expects To Be Party's Nominee

LBJ Pins Chances In '68 On 'Great Society,' Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conceding the going is tough, President Johnson has laid his 1968 re-election chances on the line of "Great Society" accomplishments and the fight against "naked aggression" in Vietnam.

The President left little doubt he expects to be the party's nominee next year when he told a glittering Democratic dinner at which about 3,000 persons paid $250 a plate Tuesday night: "If the Democratic party continues to serve by giving the greatest good to the greatest number, in the year 1968, as we come around the turn, we'll come home for the victory the people deserve."

Johnson told the cheering Democrats he believes the party's success depends on how voters react to efforts to shore up economic security of the elderly, curb crime, counter air pollution and secure rights for all citizens.

"That will demand of us at home and abroad the will, yes, the character, to persevere when the going gets tough," he said.

"It will take character to stand for freedom against naked aggression, and when some say it is none of our business to resist it."

This challenge found two of the President's chief war policy critics—Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark.—busy elsewhere.

Kennedy was on his way to California. Fulbright, an object of caustic presidential remarks at a similar dinner last year, entered Walter Reed Army Hospital Monday for treatment of bronchitis.

Tongue in cheek, Johnson greeted members of "our quietly, completely unified party." He said if this was incredible—a word Fulbright has used in describing some of the President's Asian policies—it also was traditional that Democrats like to fight.

Johnson called on the voters to turn back the Republican "wreckers" he said want to dismantle the "Great Society" program.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey described Johnson as "our leader, if you will it, in the years to come next year and after 1968."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, who has opposed escalation of the Vietnam war, was not called upon for any remarks.

House Speaker John R. McCormack, D-Mass., dutifully predicted Johnson's re-election.

These and sundry other speeches were delivered against a backdrop of a 9-by-12 foot photo of Johnson—sitting in the Oval Room rocker the late President John F. Kennedy made famous—gesturing with both hands, his rimless glasses in his right fist.

Except for a mention of Kennedy by the President, any other evidence of the Kennedy regime was conspicously lacking in the trappings and the program.

Market Aides, U.S. Discuss 'Roadblocks'

Meet In Brussels With Tariff Parley Facing Deadline

BRUSSELS (AP) — Working under pressure of a Sunday deadline, Cabinet ministers of the European Common Market assembled in Brussels today to discuss unresolved issues in the Kennedy Round tariff negotiations with the United States.

The tariff talks in Geneva recessed until Friday after William Roth, President Johnson's special representative, and Jean Rey, the chief Common Market negotiator, failed to agree on a system for lowering U.S. tariffs on chemicals and on a worldwide grain agreement.

Roth and Rey did agree, however, on Sunday as the deadline for completion of the Geneva negotiations after Roth reportedly threatened to walk out if progress was not made in 24 hours. The agreement on a deadline was the first between the United States and the six-nation Common Market.

"I think there are good chances that, after consultations, we will be in a position to come to a favorable conclusion on Sunday," Rey told newsmen

Senate Takes Up New Crime Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Another bill on crime was before the Ohio Senate today but it was designed to help the often forgotten victim instead of fix punishment for those who commit crime.

Leaders called the measure to the floor only a day after passage of a hotly debated bill to outlaw firebombs in a bid to curb crime and rioting in racially troubled cities.

Sen. Robert R. Shaw R-16 Columbus sponsored today's bill which would provide up to $10,000 compensation for victims injured in the commission of crimes. It also contained a "Good Samaritan" clause to allow similar compensation for persons injured trying to prevent a crime or apprehend a criminal.

The State Sundry Claims Board would fix awards after investigation and hearings and also could pay up to 20 per cent of individual awards to cover attorney fees. The board would seek to recover damages from the person responsible for the crime and if the amount recovered were more than its award, the remainder would be turned over to the victim.

Only three states — California, Massachusetts and New York — currently have such laws. Shaw said he saw no major opposition to his bill. He did not estimate the cost to the state in the absence of a precedent in Ohio for such legislation.

Debate on the firebomb bill capped a busy legislative day Tuesday. The Senate passed other bills giving state status to Youngstown University, permitting counties to establish data processing boards, and removing a restriction that county jail matrons be limited to six.

Measures passed by the House would boost from $250 to $1,500 the extent to which parents are liable for willful

Court-Martial Of U.S. Army Doctor Opens

Faces Charges On Refusing To Train Men For Viet Duty

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Each side is reportedly planning to call 40 or more witnesses in the court-martial of an Army doctor charged with refusing to obey orders and train men for Vietnam duty.

Capt. Howard Levy, 30, of Brooklyn, N.Y., faces the military tribunal at nearby Ft. Jackson today after several efforts to get the trial transferred to a civilian court failed. The proceeding is expected to last a week.

The five charges against the specialist in dermatology include refusal to obey an order that he train Vietnam-bound Army Special Forces medics in the treatment of skin diseases.

A motion that precedent be shattered and the case be transferred to civilian courts was refused by the U.S. Court of Appeals in Washington Tuesday.

Anthony Amsterdam, an attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, argued for the transfer and said a soldier's right of free speech overrides the military right to silence him unless national security is directly involved.

He asked that the appeals court overrule a district court that refused last week to take the case from the military tribunal.

Schirra Set To Command First 3-Man Apollo Flight

DOWNEY, Calif. (AP) — "We're off and running," says Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., chosen to command America's first three-man Apollo mission in a spacecraft redesigned for safety.

Schirra, at 44 the oldest of the U.S. astronauts, will take a fireproof Apollo craft on an earth orbital practice run early next year. With him will be Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele, 36, and a civilian, Walter Cunningham, 35, who have never traveled in space.

They planned to tell at a news conference today some of the new concepts in design that they hope will avoid a disaster like the fire that killed the original Apollo 1 crew Jan. 27.

Their mission, primarily a systems checkout, will last up to two weeks.

Schirra, one of the seven Mercury astronauts, accepted his new flight assignment with the elation exhibited by the astronauts corps in the past.

"Press on," he declared. "That's the cue."

James E. Webb, National Aeronautics and Space Administration director, told a Senate Space Committee Tuesday that NASA plans to fly the first Apollo mission early in 1968, fully expecting to make a manned landing on the moon by the end of the decade.

Yet, he added, the flight will not be attempted until the astronauts themselves are convinced that they and the spaceship are ready. Of key importance in the redesigned Apollo craft, built by North American Aviation, Inc., are a new hatch and a minimum of combustible materials in the cockpit.

Clean-Up Set For Saturday At Wellsville

A communitywide cleanup campaign will be held Saturday in Wellsville.

Mayor William Daugherty today announced the entire community will be covered in the collection of trash and debris.

He said all streets and alleys will be canvassed, with residents to have trash placed at the property line.

The trucks will begin their routes at 8 a. m.

Each section will have a truck and driver and a crew of three men to make the collections.

Anything that can be picked up will be handled, including discarded furniture, the mayor said. All loose material should be placed in containers, he cautioned.

The mayor asked the cooperation on the residents in seeing that the material is placed where it can be reached by the work crews. There will be enough trucks and men to do the job in one day, he said.

The East Liverpool fire department had its own version of "Rat Patrol" Tuesday afternoon, but the mission was a failure with the "villain" escaping.

The plot read like a chapter from a television thriller.

Time: 2:37 p. m.

Action: Alarm received. Frightened resident of Ambrose Ave. reports rat in kitchen cabinet.

Second Scene: Northside pumper is dispatched to home. Investigation conducted. Nothing found. Truck and men return. Mission over, no capture made.

Hutchinson, of 422 W. 6th St., came to East Liverpool from Baltimore in August 1964 to serve under Miss Nell Robinson, who has been head of the hospital since 1929.

Hutchinson, who is married and has a son and daughter, said he has no immediate plans for the future.

Robert Goodman, secretary-treasurer of the board, said no definite plans have yet been made for filing the vacant post.

Mike Turk Buys Market Building At Sheriff Sale

The half-completed market building at Minerva and Walnut Sts., once intended as a Korger Co. supermarket, was purchased Tuesday at Lisbon by Mike Turk, city auto agency operator, for $251,000.

There were two other bidders for the structure at the sherifff's sale conducted at the Courthouse.

The building had been started by the Walnut Realty Co. of Youngstown, but work was halted as a result of financial problems.

Turk said today he has no definite plans for use of the building, but plans to analyze the potential of the property and make a decision shortly.

The Mike Turk, Inc. agency has been utilizing part of the site for storage purposes.

Common Pleas Court ordered Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan to sell the property after Walnut Realty failed to satisfy judgments totaling $365,006.

The Potters Savings and Loan Co. of East Liverpool last year obtained judgments of $327,842 and $29,927. Judgments on other liens were for Eddie Moore, $852.95; Amy T. Smith, executrix, $1,429; Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, $1,650, and General Contracting Co., $3,304.

Carl Turk of Signal, the new owner's brother, opened bidding at $156,000. The property had to bring at least $155,426 — two-thirds the appraised value of $233,140.

Mike Turk and the Potters Savings and Loan bid against each other after the opening. Turk began at $235,000; the firm bid $240,000; Turk offered $241,000; the firm came back with $250,000, then let it go at $251,000.

Hutchinson, who is married and has a son and daughter, said he has no immediate plans for the future.

The executive board of the hospital at a meeting Tuesday accepted the resignation which the assistant superintendent had filed April 18.

Robert Goodman, secretary-treasurer of the board, said no definite plans have yet been made for filing the vacant post.

Mike Turk Buys Market Building At Sheriff Sale

The half-completed market building at Minerva and Walnut Sts., once intended as a Korger Co. supermarket, was purchased Tuesday at Lisbon by Mike Turk, city auto agency operator, for $251,000.

There were two other bidders for the structure at the sherifff's sale conducted at the Courthouse.

The building had been started by the Walnut Realty Co. of Youngstown, but work was halted as a result of financial problems.

Turk said today he has no definite plans for use of the building, but plans to analyze the potential of the property and make a decision shortly.

The Mike Turk, Inc. agency has been utilizing part of the site for storage purposes.

Common Pleas Court ordered Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan to sell the property after Walnut Realty failed to satisfy judgments totaling $365,006.

The Potters Savings and Loan Co. of East Liverpool last year obtained judgments of $327,842 and $29,927. Judgments on other liens were for Eddie Moore, $852.95; Amy T. Smith, executrix, $1,429; Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, $1,650, and General Contracting Co., $3,304.

Carl Turk of Signal, the new owner's brother, opened bidding at $156,000. The property had to bring at least $155,426 — two-thirds the appraised value of $233,140.

Mike Turk and the Potters Savings and Loan bid against each other after the opening. Turk began at $235,000; the firm bid $240,000; Turk offered $241,000; the firm came back with $250,000, then let it go at $251,000.

The official opening of the community playgrounds was set by the Wellsville Playground Commission during a meeting Tuesday night in the mayor's office at City Hall.

The playgrounds will be in operation June 12 through Sept. 2. A grand opening will be conducted June 15 at the 17th St. lot.

The sites are McKinley School, 17th St. and 16th St.

The commission will conduct a king and queen contest in conjunction with the grand opening. Any boy or girl 5 through 12 is eligible. It will cost 50 cents to enter, with a penny-a-vote plan to be followed.

The contest will begin May 15 and end at noon June 15. A parade will be held, along with a carnival and a band.

Mrs. Ruth Cooper, chairman, presided. The commission discussed personnel to be hired to operate the lots.

Another meeting will be held within the next week or 10 days to complete plans for the summer.

Anti-Pollution Action Begins To Take Form

COLUMBUS, Ohio — The direction the Ohio General Assembly will take to control pollution of the state's lakes and streams is becoming slightly clearer — but only slightly.

Witnesses primarily representing industry offered testimony Tuesday night before the House State Government Committee which hinted they are generally falling in line behind a plan believed to be backed by the Rhodes administration which would concentrate water control and pollution abatement powers in a nearly - independent Ohio Water Commission, now an advisory body.

The administration - supported plan, co-sponsored by Rep. Douglas Applegate, D - Jefferson, appeared a favored vehicle as it and two other major water pollution control bills were sent to a subcommittee by Rep. Ralph D. Cole, R-Hardin.

APPLEGATE, selected to serve on the subcommittee, said support also is gathering for a strong anti-pollution bill sponsored by Rep. Robert E. Holmes, R-Franklin, which would create a Department of Water and Minerals.

He stressed, however, that the third bill, of which he also is a co-sponsor, has several features which probably will be considered seriously by the subcommittee.

The third proposal, product of an interim legislative study committee which again included Applegate, would place emphasis on eliminating pollution by removal of exemptions granted certain industries, mines and cities, strengtehend state water programs and higher water quality standards.

Still another approach to water management was offered in committee Tuesday night by Clear Water, Inc., a nonprofit corporation headquartered in Toledo dedicated to cleaning up all Ohio streams.

Ned Skeldon, clear water administrator, presented the committee with a bill which would give the director of the Department of Natural Resources stronger water management authority.

HE SAID it is a substitute for the Ohio Water Commission Bill.

As he explained the background for the newest proposal, the water commission's 120 - member advisory council made legislative recommendations which the parent commission accepted and sent to the governor — with one major exception.

The advisory council's coordinating committee wanted most water power lodged in a stronger, autonomous commission, with pollution control remaining in the health department.

Instead, Skeldon told the committee, the commission proposed strengthening the water management responsibilities in the departments of natural resources and health.

"Levy is asking unprecedented release, release which no court ever has granted," Goldbloom said.

Levy also faces charges in connection with statements that he would refuse to serve in Vietnam if ordered to do so and his alleged references to Special Forces soldiers as "liars, thieves and killers."

Levy also is charged with "conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman."

If convicted, Levy could be imprisoned for 11 years.

Levy has not been in custody except for the few days after the charges were first announced last December. He has continued his work at Ft. Jackson and during the court-martial will be allowed to return to his Columbia apartment each night.

property damage by their minor children and authorize payment of workmen's compensation claims against noncomplying employers from a special fund.

Eight new bills were introduced in the Senate and five in the lower chamber. New proposals would permit grand juries to eliminate the death penalty in indictments and permit the director of agriculture to regulate packaging and labeling of retail products.

Senators passed the firebomb bill 23-9 following an hour of nonpartisan debate on an amendment which would have stricken a provision making it a felony to possess materials with the intent to make the so-called "Molotov cocktails."

The amendment, by Sen. John W. Bowen R-15 Columbus, lost on a 13-19 vote over arguments that the bill could result in arrest of persons innocently in possession of materials described simply as a container of inflammable liquid, a wick and a match.

But Sen. William W. Taft R-26 Cleveland, the floor speaker, asserted the possession clause was needed to allow police to halt fire bombings before they occur. "This will allow police to meet the crime in the embryonic stage," Taft said.

Under the measure, which Gov. James A. Rhodes said he will sign, possession with intent, manufacturing, distributing or using firebombs would be punishable as a felony at 1-5 years in prison.

Sen. Robert E. Stockdale R-31 Portage was most outspoken among several senators who attacked the amendment by Bowen. "We need to bring this whole matter into focus. I am sick and tired of hearing people say we might infringe on the rights of someone. I have compassion for these persons, but what about the victims who suffer death and injury and have their property destroyed?" Stockdale asked.

A former sheriff, Stockdale said "the whole matter boils down to whether we have any faith in the judgment of our enforcement officers and our judicial system. If we don't, then we'd better take another look at our entire system."

He also had no word on whether MIG opposition was encountered in the air.

American warplanes have previously blasted the MIG bases at Kep, 37 miles northeast of Hanoi, and Hoa Lac 20 miles west of the capital.

A spokesman said Tuesday that Hoa Lac field, hit five times, could no longer be used.

Although three MIG bases have now been hit, the North Vietnamese air force has at least three other jet fields which have not been bombed. These are at Phuc Yen, Gia Lam and Cat Be, all in the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

The ground battle in the northwest corner of South Vietnam Tuesday developed when a Communist force of unknown strength opened up with sniper and automatic weapons fire on part of the 3rd Marine Regiment nine miles northwest of Khe Sanh.

Fighting continued for five hours. The North Vietnamese broke contact early Tuesday night after the Marines called in reinforcements and air support.

The B52s flew in high above the mountain terrain Tuesday night to hit Red positions 14 miles northwest of Khe Sanh. The big bombers returned early today, hammering fortified bunkers, trenches, automatic weapons positions and supply points in the same area.

A Marine patrol reported locating 203 North Vietnamese bodies in fresh graves near Tuesday's battle site. They had been killed in 12 days of mountain fighting — the battle of Khe Sanh — which ended last week when the Marines drove the North Vietnamese from the last of three strategic hills in the area close to the Laotian border and just below the demilitarized zone.

U.S. headquarters said the known North Vietnamese toll in the area since April 24 now is 764.

Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom, Lt. Col. Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee died in less than 20 seconds, trying vainly to escape.

Engineers who designed a new explosive hatch built it to open within five seconds.

Webb said the new capsule, known as Block II, will use a 100 per cent oxygen atmosphere, as Apollo 1 did, but "the use of noncombustible and fire-resistant materials will minimize the risk of fire to the lowest level possible."

Webb added that despite the fire, the total cost of the moon program should be within the $22.7-billion estimate. However, should something happen to prevent attaining the goal of American footprints on the moon by 1970, additional costs of up to $500 million may be incurred.

as he left Geneva to meet with the Cabinet ministers from France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The Kennedy Round talks began nearly five years ago, with their goal the lowering of tariffs and other trade barriers. A successful conslusion would greatly stimulate world trade and reduce prices on many imported goods.

Failure would be a hard blow to international cooperation. Eric Wyndham White, a neutral who directs the organization supervising the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, said that although there were "serious" obstacles, the "possibility remains" that agreement will be reached by the weekend.

White said that failure to agree by then "would necessarily lead to the joint conclusion that the Kennedy Round cannot be successfully concluded at all."

President Johnson's authority to cut U.S. tariffs as much as 50 per cent, first asked from Congress by President John F. Kennedy, expires June 30, and Congress is considered unlikely to extend the authority. With 46 other countries involved in addition to the United States and the Common Market six, it will take the rest of May and most of June to prepare any agreements reached in Geneva for signature.

as he left Geneva to meet with the Cabinet ministers from France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The Kennedy Round talks began nearly five years ago, with their goal the lowering of tariffs and other trade barriers. A successful conslusion would greatly stimulate world trade and reduce prices on many imported goods.

Failure would be a hard blow to international cooperation. Eric Wyndham White, a neutral who directs the organization supervising the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, said that although there were "serious" obstacles, the "possibility remains" that agreement will be reached by the weekend.

White said that failure to agree by then "would necessarily lead to the joint conclusion that the Kennedy Round cannot be successfully concluded at all."

President Johnson's authority to cut U.S. tariffs as much as 50 per cent, first asked from Congress by President John F. Kennedy, expires June 30, and Congress is considered unlikely to extend the authority. With 46 other countries involved in addition to the United States and the Common Market six, it will take the rest of May and most of June to prepare any agreements reached in Geneva for signature.

Staying On The Job

One thing not needed by the Wellsville board of education — plagued by lack of sufficient revenue and faced with the problem of providing an adequate schooling for Wellsville's young people — is the resignation of Dr. Janis Lauva.

One thing almost all the boards of education of all districts could well use is more men—and women—of the caliber of the Wellsville physician who has shown an intelligent and devoted interest in the schools and the students.

There are and have been many board members in the district who have been instrumental in development of school programs of lasting value.

But there have at times been men elected to board posts who have not had the real grasp of finances, curriculum, teacher policy, public opinion, administrative problems and other aspects of education vital for positive progress.

It is our belief that more men of professional and executive ability should seek board offices, lending to public service their own leaning and understanding of these complex affairs.

There can be no denying the fact that some men with only high school diplomas, with limited schooling have shown themselves more than capable of directing the business activities and setting the policies of public schools.

But the continuing emphasis on more and more education to meet the demands of today's world underscores the need for more people of advanced schooling to lead and direct, more of the type of professional people typified by Dr. Lauva.

We hope the physician realizes his disappointment in last week's election is shared by fellow board members, by most students and apparently by most people of the community, and that the way to solve the financial problem is to remain with the board, working to bring about a solution.

Who Can Define Obscenity?

Members of the U.S. Supreme Court are so skittish about obscenity decisions they ultimately may back away from this problem entirely.

In the Ralph Ginzburg decision of March 1966, they tried to say that obcsenity was determined by the manner in which publications were advertised.

This week, in a ruling on girlie magazines, the question is left in the air, where it probably is destined to stay.

This is the more curious when it is considered that the Supreme Court in its massive wisdom seems able to bring everything else down to earth. But obscenity is a special problem for a special reason.

The special reason is fear of misapplication of precedent. It works like this:

A publication might be so obviously prurient it could have been produced for no other reason that appeal to the lowest manifestations of mankind's sexual nature. A thousand fair judges might look at it and wince because of its crudity, bad taste and palpable obscenity.

But if their unanimity became an allowable basis for judging obscenity, a thousand other judges might look at it and wince because of obscene and use the unanimous judgment of a thousand others in a dissimilar case as a precedent.

Obscenity, like beauty, is in the eye and mind of the beholder.

It is not scientifically ascertainable.

And there the matter will rest until the next obscenity case comes to judgment somewhere.

Put High Toll On Calls

Telephone harassment calls can be frightening and obscene. Even if the calls are of only a nuisance variety, the repetition at all hours of the day and night can drive a victim up the wall.

Concen for victims of offensive or nuisance calls has caused a pair of Stark County state representatives to introduce a bill to do something about it.

Reps. Robert E. Levitt and Richard G. Reichel have proposed a measure that would require courts to levy at least a $100 fine or five days in jail, or both, against persons convicted of telephone harassment.

A case was cited where a man convicted of harassing a woman with telephone calls received a suspended fine and jail term and paid only $7 court costs.

Telephone harassment is a vicious attack on an individual's privacy and needs to be dealt with severely to bring it to a quick end.

The proposal by Stark legislators would set the maximum fine for the crime at $1,000 and the maximum jail term at one year.

Quick enactment of stiffer penalties coupled with new devices by telephone companies to trace abusive or annoyance calls should help ease the situation.

The tremendous rise in the number of threatening or obscene calls across the nation has touched off a Senate invstigation. A Senate subcommittee considers the matter serious enough to consider a bill making it a federal offense to frighten, annoy or abuse anyone by telephone.

We believe there is enough evidence to warrant further action at Columbus.

Purely Personal

By Truman Twill

Anyone who misses a Maytime rural-road inspection of dogwood and thorn apple trees in bloom is cheating himself of one of nature's loveliest free shows.

Among things that belong together, in addition to ham and eggs and Richard and Liz, are ham hocks and green string beans.

It is interesting that the dictionary meaning of "establishment" has strong overtones of religion in its derivation and that the longest word in the language — antidisestablishmentarianism — means those who are against disestablishing establishmentarianism.

That presidential crime commission which said some things considered criminal are that way only because someone away back somewhere said so and should be declassified opened a Pandora's box that may never be closed again.

My general view is that the thing most to be feared in a free society is concentration of power and therefore I am as opposed to the near-monopoly power of unions today as I was of the near-monopoly power of employers yesterday.

It strikes me funny when directions on lawn mowers say grass should not be mowed when wet. When, pray tell, would some of us get our lawns mowed if we waited until they dried out?

The basic tragedy of John F. Kennedy's murder, as readers of the William Manchester book will learn in abudant detail, is that the head of the Democratic party went to Texas to straighten out a political brawl involving three politicians — Lyndon Johnson, John Conally and Ralph Yarborough — and the brawl, as well as the venomous right-wing rancor in Dallas, did not stop with his death.

It is going to shock some youth - movement followers of the new senator from Illinois, Charles Percy, when they learn he is 48 years old, which will take him out of the "boy marvel" category. The Republicans' other "youth leader," John V. Lindsay, is 45. Both men look younger than they are.

Readers who scoff at newspapers for ending up on the losing end of popular votes on public issues do not understand that newspapers rarely expect to end up on the winning side the first time and are reconciled to some of their defeats before they start the battle.

It is beginning to dawn on many Americans who never thought about it before that the basic issue in Vietnam is not morality, not desirability, not Yankee Doodle-ism, but whether or not the United States can do what it almost casually set out to do on the urging of gung-ho militarists.

Machinists Irked By NASA

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — Now comes a strong and loud voice asking questions which must be answered to avert the horror of oxygen flash fires and ghastly cries of suffocating astronauts.

Victor Riesel

The voice is that of the powerful Machinists union whose men and women have built craft for inner and outer space. It wants to know why an experienced manufacturer of such vehicles which have hurtled safely through the vast skies was deprived of contracts to build a moon capsule — and the task assigned to a firm which had virtually no experience in mastering the heavens.

The firm which built the first carriers to flash safely in and out of space is McDonnell Aircraft of St. Louis. What happens inside that complex is intimately known to the Machinists. Their men and women staff it.

This union, led by Roy Siemiller, is not noted for saying kind things about employers — be they railroad, airlines, munition makers, or aerospace manufacturers. It has been so tough, it has defied the President and the Congress. Yet the other day its official newspaper editorially awarded the McDonell company at "E" for excellence. And it asked:

"We still wonder why, after MccDonnell's record of achievement, NASA turned its back on McDonnell and chose a manufacturer with less experience to produce the Apollo.

This did not make "good sense when it happened," say the Machinists, and "it makes less sense now" that three men were incinerated.

It is strange that few have escalated the issue as sharply as has the International Assn. of Machinists.

ITS VIEWPOINT is reasoned. It is emotional, of course. Who is not? But the cry of the Machinists springs from those who have talked with the men and women who have built spacecraft — which leads the union to say:

"The problems with Project Apollo, the spaceship supposed to carry the first men to the moon, are as varied as they are tragic. The hearings by both Senate and House committee . . . (disclosed) . . . engineering deficiencies, poor workmanship, lack of quality control, bad management both by North American Aviation, the manufacturer, and by NASA.

"As the disclosures mount, so in direct proportion does our appreciation of the magnificent job done by the men and women of McDonnell aircraft who manufactured and launched Project Mercury, the first U.S. spaceship, and then Project Gemini, the first two-man space vehicle."

The union then states that "as pioneers with no previous experience to draw on, the men and women of McConnell produced and orbited two series of spacecraft successfully with little delay and no loss of life."

These "twin miracles" of Mercury and Gemini moved the Machinists to award a real "E for Excellence' to McDonnell and its employes.

ADD TO THIS, then, an excerpt from a report by Major General Samuel C. Phillips who probed the Apollo's prime contractor, the North American Aviation Company — a document which has been ignored by the entire U.S. government, it seems.

"NAA quality," according to Gen. Phillips' report made after a long investigation in 1965, "is not up to NASA required standards . . . the condition of hardware, shipped from the factory with thousands of hours of work to complete, is unsatisfactory . . . poor workmanship is evidenced by the continual high rates of rejections.

"Work task management — general orders task authorizations, product plans, etc., are broad and almost meaningless . . ."

Thus we hve a powerful union asking questions, a respected general making blunt accusations, a whirlwind of talk about secret reports, obvious poor workmanship, and charges in Congress of "incredible mismanagement."

CERTAINLY no conscience in this land can be clear; no mind worthy of the description can be peaceful; no astronauts' lives can be jeopardized unless there is a sweeping probe by men not subject to any political or financial pressures. This must disqualify Congress.

Answers should be sought by men of unimpeachable judicial status. Who moved the project from experienced hands to incompetent ones?

WHO IN NASA is responsible? What political leaders, if any, were involved? Who were the lobbyists? Who are the "incredible" mismanagers? What of the work force? What of reports that there is deliberate slow work and casualness even in plants making intricate weapons for the soldiers overseas and sailors who go down to the sea and down into it? That, too, has happened.

Certainly there is more here than the public knows. Why? Who's hiding what? Let's get an answer to the Machinists' question. It might answer all the others.

Letters To The Editor

To mothers everywhere.

Happy Mother's Day to all of you.

I pray you will always be happy mothers, that you will never know the heartbreak of seeing your precious child turn into a wild, uncontrollable teen-ager, that you never see him behind the bars of a cell or spilled out on a highway somewhere.

There is a way to keep happy. Take that little one to Sunday School. Teach him about the saving power of Jesus Christ.

Let him learn while he's little that all the fears and troubles he will meet along life's way can be conquered by a strong faith in Christ.

By reading the Bible to him, he will soon know that any questions he may have can be answered in God's Holy Word. Equip him now to face life and you can spend your later years in the peace and serenity we all long for.

God Bless you all.

Now that all the people in Wellsville who voted NO for the school levy got their thanks, I would like to give our thanks to the people who didn't even bother to go out and vote.

If these people would have taken the time or trouble to go to the polls and vote, the school levy might have passed.

Anyone can make a mistake once, so in November, go out and vote to correct your mistake. Your votes would be greatly appreciated if they were for the passing of the school levy.

A Formula

By David Lawrence

Profit-Sharing Suggested.

Death of the World Journal Tribune in New York may focus attention now on some little-known facts about business.

In many other kinds of enterprises, too, people are thrown out of work and heavy financial losses are incurred due to the same reasons that have just caused 2,600 persons to lose their jobs on a daily newspaper which—though it had 700,000 circulation on weekdays and 800,000 on Sundays—found itself compelled to end operations.

Two basic concepts—collective bargaining and fair competition—are not being applied effectively by federal and state laws.

The power to destroy a business today is in the hands of relatively small groups of individuals. Monopoly and combinations or trusts in "restraint of trade" are punishable—but not when instigated by labor-union leaders.

Unrealistic levels of wages forced upon weaker competitors by labor-union strategy have cut down the total number of newspapers in the United States by nearly 50 per cent over the last few decades, notwithstanding a large increase in population.

Labor unions have insisted on uniform wage scales in each city no matter what damage may be done to marginal producers, whether of newspapers or of many other products in different industries.

Managers of a business cannot inflict direct damage on competitors and then force either a merger or the termination of an enterprise. But labor unions can do this and escape punishment.

In many parts of the country, afternoon newspapers have thrived, while a newspaper from another city in the area covers the morning field.

It was assumed the World Journal Tribune, which achieved a 700,000 circulation as an afternoon newspaper, would have a good chance to prosper. But labor costs were prohibitive.

Management revealed that losses exceeded five million dollars in the last several months and says almost the same amount of deficiency per month in the next three years was in prospect due to heavy wage rates imposed by new contracts with labor unions.

Profitable morning newspapers with an area market are able to pay high wages which an afternoon newspaper cannot always match.

Tens of thousands of people working in New York no longer ride commuter trains, reading newspapers on the way. Most travel in by auto, and a summary of important news is available by radio.

Persons who work in New York find on returning home an afternoon newspaper covering not only the news of their community but a significant amount of world news.

Advertisers in the New York area who wanted to reach persons of middle or high income evidently decided it was better to utilize suburban afternoon newspapers and one or two of the New York morning papers.

But there might have been success in New York for a newspaper of specialized appeal in the afternoon field if labor expenses could have been held down for a few years while the publishers concentrated on attracting a market of middle or high-income readers. Union policies, however, prevented such an experiment.

What, then, is the answer to the dilemma? It lies in the use of the profit-sharing formula. Employes could share in the profits, provided they were willing to keep wage levels down when losses developed.

A big opportunity for an increase in the number of jobs in America could arise if unions would agree to abandon the uniformity idea in wage rates and let each contract be negotiated separately on the basis of a profit-sharing plan.

Why shouldn't employes share profits if they, too, take risks?

The answer is that wherever they agree to do so the profits average over a period of time a compensation far above any wage scales set by the unions.

There would be fewer mergers today in America and more businesses and more employes if collective bargaining were strictly regulated so employes in companies with high expenses and low margins of gross profit could make their products better and at less expense.

They could at times even sell at lower prices than their competitors. This is the essence of fair competition and freedom of private enterprise.

What of reports that there is deliberate slow work and casualness even in plants making intricate weapons for the soldiers overseas and sailors who go down to the sea and down into it? That, too, has happened.

Certainly there is more here than the public knows. Why? Who's hiding what? Let's get an answer to the Machinists' question. It might answer all the others.

To mothers everywhere.

Happy Mother's Day to all of you.

I pray you will always be happy mothers, that you will never know the heartbreak of seeing your precious child turn into a wild, uncontrollable teen-ager, that you never see him behind the bars of a cell or spilled out on a highway somewhere.

There is a way to keep happy. Take that little one to Sunday School. Teach him about the saving power of Jesus Christ.

Let him learn while he's little that all the fears and troubles he will meet along life's way can be conquered by a strong faith in Christ.

By reading the Bible to him, he will soon know that any questions he may have can be answered in God's Holy Word. Equip him now to face life and you can spend your later years in the peace and serenity we all long for.

God Bless you all.

Now that all the people in Wellsville who voted NO for the school levy got their thanks, I would like to give our thanks to the people who didn't even bother to go out and vote.

If these people would have taken the time or trouble to go to the polls and vote, the school levy might have passed.

Anyone can make a mistake once, so in November, go out and vote to correct your mistake. Your votes would be greatly appreciated if they were for the passing of the school levy.

A Formula

By David Lawrence

Profit-Sharing Suggested.

Death of the World Journal Tribune in New York may focus attention now on some little-known facts about business.

In many other kinds of enterprises, too, people are thrown out of work and heavy financial losses are incurred due to the same reasons that have just caused 2,600 persons to lose their jobs on a daily newspaper which—though it had 700,000 circulation on weekdays and 900,000 on Sundays—found itself compelled to end operations.

Two basic concepts—collective bargaining and fair competition—are not being applied effectively by federal and state laws.

The power to destroy a business today is in the hands of relatively small groups of individuals. Monopoly and combinations or trusts in "restraint of trade" are punishable—but not when instigated by labor-union leaders.

Unrealistic levels of wages forced upon weaker competitors by labor-union strategy have cut down the total number of newspapers in the United States by nearly 50 per cent over the last few decades, notwithstanding a large increase in population.

Labor unions have insisted on uniform wage scales in each city no matter what damage may be done to marginal producers, whether of newspapers or of many other products in different industries.

Managers of a business cannot inflict direct damage on competitors and then force either a merger or the termination of an enterprise. But labor unions can do this and escape punishment.

In many parts of the country, afternoon newspapers have thrived, while a newspaper from another city in the area covers the morning field.

It was assumed the World Journal Tribune, which achieved a 700,000 circulation as an afternoon newspaper, would have a good chance to prosper. But labor costs were prohibitive.

Management revealed that losses exceeded five million dollars in the last several months and says almost the same amount of deficiency per month in the next three years was in prospect due to heavy wage rates imposed by new contracts with labor unions.

Profitable morning newspapers with an area market are able to pay high wages which an afternoon newspaper cannot always match.

Tens of thousands of people working in New York no longer ride commuter trains, reading newspapers on the way. Most travel in by auto, and a summary of important news is available by radio.

Persons who work in New York find on returning home an afternoon newspaper covering not only the news of their community but a significant amount of world news.

Advertisers in the New York area who wanted to reach persons of middle or high income evidently decided it was better to utilize suburban afternoon newspapers and one or two of the New York morning papers.

But there might have been success in New York for a newspaper of specialized appeal in the afternoon field if labor expenses could have been held down for a few years while the publishers concentrated on attracting a market of middle or high-income readers. Union policies, however, prevented such an experiment.

What, then, is the answer to the dilemma? It lies in the use of the profit-sharing formula. Employes could share in the profits, provided they were willing to keep wage levels down when losses developed.

A big opportunity for an increase in the number of jobs in America could arise if unions would agree to abandon the uniformity idea in wage rates and let each contract be negotiated separately on the basis of a profit-sharing plan.

Why shouldn't employes share profits if they, too, take risks?

The answer is that wherever they agree to do so the profits average over a period of time a compensation far above any wage scales set by the unions.

There would be fewer mergers today in America and more businesses and more employes if collective bargaining were strictly regulated so employes in companies with high expenses and low margins of gross profit could make their products better and at less expense.

They could at times even sell at lower prices than their competitors. This is the essence of fair competition and freedom of private enterprise.

Has McNamara's Blessing

Generals Vote To Drop 15 Guard And Reserve Units

WASHINGTON (AP)—A committee of regular Army, National Guard and Reserve generals has secretly voted 11 to 10 for a controversial plan to drop 15 National Guard divisions and four Reserve brigades, it was learned today.

Narrow as it was, the vote is regarded as a boost for the plan, which is believed to have at least the general blessing of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The proposal—latest step in a year-long Pentagon drive to streamline the Reserve forces—is expected to encounter stiff opposition from powerful members of Congress.

The 21-member Reserve Forces Policy Committee voted last week. The regular Army, the Guard and the Reserves have seven representatives each on the panel.

Pentagon officials have classified details as secret. The Army said details include information on force structure, manning and equipment levels, and mobilization and contingency planning which could assist a potential enemy.

It is known that the effect of the latest reorganization proposal would be to place virtually all the combat units of the Army backup forces in the National Guard, and service support outfits in the Reserve.

The cutting edge of the Guard would be reduced to 8 divisions and 18 independent brigades—a total of 42 brigades—manned at nearly full combat strength.

This would mean abolition of 15 Guard divisions which now form a reinforcing reserve at about 50 per cent of full strength. There are about 1,000 units in each of the 15 divisions.

The Guard divisions expected to be eliminated under the new plan include the 37th Infantry of Ohio.

Officials said most of the men now in these low-priority divisions probably would be absorbed into first-line outfits.

The officers and enlisted men in the four Army Reserve brigades tabbed for elimination also are expected to wind up in high-priority units. These brigades are manned at between 75 and 90 per cent of maximum strength.

Under the plan as now drawn, even the eight high-strength Guard divisions would be revamped geographically.

The effort is being made to give as many states as possible at least one brigade of about 4,500 men each. Several of the large states would get as many as three brigades.

Guard officials have said about 42 brigades are needed to permit the states to handle internal problems such as civil rights disturbances and natural disasters.

The package will be considered by Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, and Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor before being sent to McNamara for final approval.

In successive stages dating back more than five years, McNamara has sought to cut away those Guard and Reserve units which he considered surplus to war plan requirements and too lightly manned and equipped to be of any quick use in a mobilization.

Despite counterfire from Capitol Hill, governors and Guard and Reserve backers, McNamara has eliminated 10 Reserve divisions, four National Guard divisions and thousands of miscellaneous units.

Congress succeeded in blocking his proposal two years ago to merge the Reserve into the National Guard.

2 Congressmen Concerned Over Erie Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Cleveland area congressmen voiced concern about pollution of Lake Erie before a House appropriations subcommittee Tuesday, one calling for $247 million more for water pollution in the coming fiscal year than President Johnson has budgeted.

Rep. William E. Minshall, R-Ohio, joined Rep. John A. Blatnik, D-Minn., in asking the subcommittee to vote the $450 million which Congress has authorized for the work. Johnson has budgeted $203 million.

The other Ohioan testifying before the committee, Rep. Charles A. Vanik, complained that the Army Engineers continue to dump dredged materials into a Lake Erie already supersaturated with pollution of all forms.

Vanik, a Democrat, registered the criticism in supporting the request for $1.2 million for dredging the Cleveland harbor and Cuyahoga River.

Channels must be dredged to suit the needs of navigation, he said, but dredging materials should be disposed of without adding to lake pollution.

Rebuilding Eyed At Fire-Leveled Feed Mill, Store

Plans for rebuilding the fire-wrecked Wellsville Feed and Supply Co. of 320 Lisbon St., Wellsville, were announced today by Dale Rudibaugh, owner.

The building was swept by a $60,000 blaze early yesterday.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis today continued an investigation into the cause of the fire, which also damaged two nearby storage structures.

Rudibaugh, of Shadyside Ave., East Liverpool, today was continuing business operations at the site, operating from a trailer. He said he plans to start reconstruction of the building as soon as possible.

Rudibaugh expressed appreciation to Wellsville and area firemen who battled the blaze and police who assisted. Two firemen received minor burns.

Has McNamara's Blessing

Generals Vote To Drop 15 Guard And Reserve Units

WASHINGTON (AP)—A committee of regular Army, National Guard and Reserve generals has secretly voted 11 to 10 for a controversial plan to drop 15 National Guard divisions and four Reserve brigades, it was learned today.

Narrow as it was, the vote is regarded as a boost for the plan, which is believed to have at least the general blessing of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The proposal—latest step in a year-long Pentagon drive to streamline the Reserve forces—is expected to encounter stiff opposition from powerful members of Congress.

The 21-member Reserve Forces Policy Committee voted last week. The regular Army, the Guard and the Reserves have seven representatives each on the panel.

Pentagon officials have classified details as secret. The Army said details include information on force structure, manning and equipment levels, and mobilization and contingency planning which could assist a potential enemy.

It is known that the effect of the latest reorganization proposal would be to place virtually all the combat units of the Army backup forces in the National Guard, and service support outfits in the Reserve.

The cutting edge of the Guard would be reduced to 8 divisions and 18 independent brigades—a total of 42 brigades—manned at nearly full combat strength.

This would mean abolition of 15 Guard divisions which now form a reinforcing reserve at about 50 per cent of full strength. There are about 1,000 units in each of the 15 divisions.

The Guard divisions expected to be eliminated under the new plan include the 37th Infantry of Ohio.

Officials said most of the men now in these low-priority divisions probably would be absorbed into first-line outfits.

The officers and enlisted men in the four Army Reserve brigades tabbed for elimination also are expected to wind up in high-priority units. These brigades are manned at between 75 and 90 per cent of maximum strength.

Under the plan as now drawn, even the eight high-strength Guard divisions would be revamped geographically.

The effort is being made to give as many states as possible at least one brigade of about 4,500 men each. Several of the large states would get as many as three brigades.

Guard officials have said about 42 brigades are needed to permit the states to handle internal problems such as civil rights disturbances and natural disasters.

The package will be considered by Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, and Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor before being sent to McNamara for final approval.

In successive stages dating back more than five years, McNamara has sought to cut away those Guard and Reserve units which he considered surplus to war plan requirements and too lightly manned and equipped to be of any quick use in a mobilization.

Despite counterfire from Capitol Hill, governors and Guard and Reserve backers, McNamara has eliminated 10 Reserve divisions, four National Guard divisions and thousands of miscellaneous units.

Congress succeeded in blocking his proposal two years ago to merge the Reserve into the National Guard.

2 Congressmen Concerned Over Erie Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Cleveland area congressmen voiced concern about pollution of Lake Erie before a House appropriations subcommittee Tuesday, one calling for $247 million more for water pollution in the coming fiscal year than President Johnson has budgeted.

Rep. William E. Minshall, R-Ohio, joined Rep. John A. Blatnik, D-Minn., in asking the subcommittee to vote the $450 million which Congress has authorized for the work. Johnson has budgeted $203 million.

The other Ohioan testifying before the committee, Rep. Charles A. Vanik, complained that the Army Engineers continue to dump dredged materials into a Lake Erie already supersaturated with pollution of all forms.

Vanik, a Democrat, registered the criticism in supporting the request for $1.2 million for dredging the Cleveland harbor and Cuyahoga River.

Channels must be dredged to suit the needs of navigation, he said, but dredging materials materials should be disposed of without adding to lake pollution.

Rebuilding Eyed At Fire-Leveled Feed Mill, Store

Plans for rebuilding the fire-wrecked Wellsville Feed and Supply Co. of 320 Lisbon St., Wellsville, were announced today by Dale Rudibaugh, owner.

The building was swept by a $60,000 blaze early yesterday.

Fire Chief Robert Lewis today continued an investigation into the cause of the fire, which also damaged two nearby storage structures.

Rudibaugh, of Shadyside Ave., East Liverpool, today was continuing business operations at the site, operating from a trailer. He said he plans to start reconstruction of the building as soon as possible.

Rudibaugh expressed appreciation to Wellsville and area firemen who battled the blaze and police who assisted. Two firemen received minor burns.

Dairy Princess Will Be Chosen By County Group

LISBON — The Columbiana County Dairymen's Council again will select a dairy princess to compete in the Ohio state contest this summer.

Harold McCullough of Salem R. D. 2, president, said entry forms for the county contest may be obtained at the Cooperative Extension Service Office, 113 S. Market St., Lisbon. They must be completed and returned by June 1.

The contest is restricted to young women with a dairy background. They must be at least 16, but not over 25 years old as of June 1, unmarried, residents of Columbiana County and high school graduates or seniors graduating in June.

Miss Nancey Lowmiller of Minerva R. D. 2 was the county dairy princess last year.

The state winner will receive a wardrobe allowance to enter the national contest and the national princess will receive a full-time job for one year with the American Dairy Association.

Joe D. Pittman, county extension agent for agriculture, said dairy farm production in this county is valued at over $4 million annually — the largest single source of agricultural income.

U.S. Concert Pianist Killed In Vietnam Helicopter Crash

DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP) — Philippa Schuyler, American Negro concert pianist and former child prodigy composer, was killed Tuesday night in the crash of a U.S. Army helicopter evacuating Vietnamese children to Da Nang.

A Vietnamese child was also killed and a U.S. soldier aboard the helicopter as a passenger was missing. Seven other Vietnamese children, four U.S. crewmen and two South Vietnamese soldiers were rescued by Air Force, Marine and Army helicopters that sped to Da Nang Bay.

Miss Schuyler, 35, had planned to leave Vietnam Saturday but delayed her departure to help bring Roman Catholic children from Hue where tension between Catholic and Buddhist factions was reported rising again.

The cause of the crash was not immediately established, but spokesmen said it apparently was not due to enemy action. The helicopter crashed about 50 yards from shore just north of Da Nang, and there was no enemy fire reported in the area.

Miss Schuyler first came to Vietnam last year to give concerts for American servicemen and Vietnamese groups.

She returned about a month ago as a correspondent for the Manchester (N.H.) Union Leader and several religious magazines.

Miss Schuyler, who grew up in Harlem, was the daughter of George Schuyler, noted Negro writer and former publisher of the Pittsburgh Courier, and Josephine Schuyler. Her mother is white.

When she was 2½ years old, Philippa could recite verses from "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam" and find the Mississippi River on the globe.

She began her career as a pianist at 4, when she won her first gold medal in the National Piano Teacher Guild competitions by playing 10 works from memory.

In later years, Miss Schuyler made a number of world tours and became fascinated by Africa. Her recent compositions included "Sanga," an Ethiopian hero dance, and "Chisamharu the Nogomo," who was a 16th century Mozembique emperor.

Patrol Lists Five Mishaps

A Calcutta area man was injured in a truck mishap along the Smiths Ferry - Calcutta Rd. in one of five district accidents investigated Tuesday by the Highway Patrol at Lisbon.

Henry Everett Hoppel, 51, of East Liverpool R.D. 3 was treated at City Hospital for cuts of the nose and left eyelid following the accident last night at 10:30 about a mile east of Calcutta.

Officers said he was headed east in a 1966 pickup truck and veered off a curve to the left, the truck hitting an embankment. There was moderate damage to the truck, officers said.

Paul Stewart, 25, of Lisbon R.D. 1 and Terry John Zaplata, 19, of Lisbon R.D. 3 each was cited for driving left of center after a collision on a hill crest yesterday.

Stewart was headed south in a 1966 coach and Zaplata north in a 1962 auto, both left of center, officers said, on Township Rd. 900 about three miles east of Route 30. Both were charged with driving left of center.

Shirley J. Clair, 19, of New Waterford R.D. 1 was injured in a one-car mishap on Route 558, a mile east of Route 7 yesterday morning.

She was headed west when her 1963 convertible went off the road, scraped two fence posts, hit the side of a bridge and marker then bounced across the roadway and hit the other side of the bridge.

She was taken to Salem City Hospital. The car was badly damaged.

Arenda Joyce, 47, of New Springfield was cited after a collision on Route 7 about a mile north of Route 14 yesterday afternoon.

She was headed west and had halted for a stop sign at Route 7, then drove onto Route 7 and her car was struck by the rear wheels of a tractor-trailer rig driven by Bernard Fasenmyer, 36, of Warren, Pa. She was charged with failure to yield the right of way.

No one was injured in a collision between cars operated by Stephen Koch, 16, of New Waterford and Esther Chesney, 39, of Columbiana on Township Rd. 857 two miles west of Route 7.

Both were headed east when the woman attempted to make a left turn as the youth began to pass.

27 Are Qualifed At Wellsville In Jaycee Road-e-o

Twenty-seven Wellsville students who took an examination to participate in a Jaycee Road-e-o drive-off, have qualified for the event set for May 21, Michael Cook, chairman, said.

The event, set for 1 p. m., will be held at Mason's IGA Store parking lot at Wellsville.

Winners will compete in the state finals at Warren June 10. State finalists will participate in the national finals in August at the University of Michigan, Cook announced.

The six national finalists will share in $14,000 scholarships and awards and will receive a 1968 automobile for use for a year. The national finalists also will travel throughout the United States as Youth Safety Spokesmen, visiting high schools.

Cook said that any Wellsville student who has not taken the exam and still would like to may contact him by May 19 at his home at 1060 Railroad St., East Liverpool.

Kentucky March Set Tonight On Open-Housing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Supporters of an open-housing law for Louisville made plans for a march tonight in the city's South End, scene of numerous demonstrations in a seven-week controversy.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was due back in Louisville to address the housing advocates after their march.

About 70 supporters, mostly teen-agers, staged a brief demonstration Tuesday night at the city hall but later moved quietly into the building for a meeting of aldermen.

Tonight's march would be the third straight protest movement since civil rights leaders called off threatened demonstrations at last week's Kentucky Derby.

Police Judge William G. Colson levied fines totaling $1,200 Tuesday to 19 demonstrators. They were arrested in connection with a march on April 14 and were charged with disorderly conduct and parading without a permit.

After he was picked up by police, Robinson jumped from the cruiser and fled on foot. He fell attempting to escape and was slightly injured.

Robinson was to have received a hearing Monday, but requested a continuance when he notified the court by phone he wanted to obtain an attorney and said he was unable to appear because of his injuries.

Kentucky March Set Tonight On Open-Housing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Supporters of an open-housing law for Louisville made plans for a march tonight in the city's South End, scene of numerous demonstrations in a seven-week controversy.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was due back in Louisville to address the housing advocates after their march.

About 70 supporters, mostly teen-agers, staged a brief demonstration Tuesday night at the city hall but later moved quietly into the building for a meeting of aldermen.

Tonight's march would be the third straight protest movement since civil rights leaders called off threatened demonstrations at last week's Kentucky Derby.

Police Judge William G. Colson levied fines totaling $1,200 Tuesday to 19 demonstrators. They were arrested in connection with a march on April 14 and were charged with disorderly conduct and parading without a permit.

Warrant Issued In Man's Flight

A bench warrant was issued by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff this morning for Eddie E. Robinson of the YMCA at Youngstown when he failed to appear on charges of shoplifting and resisting arrest.

The judge also ordered that Robinson's $615 bond be forfeited.

Robinson was charged with stealing a radio - phonograph combination valued at $29.95 from the Kapp Radio Sales & Service shop on E. 4th St. Saturday afternoon.

After he was picked up by police, Robinson jumped from the cruiser and fled on foot. He fell attempting to escape and was slightly injured.

Robinson was to have received a hearing Monday, but requested a continuance when he notified the court by phone he wanted to obtain an attorney and said he was unable to appear because of his injuries.

Santo 5-For-5 As Cubs Rip Giants; Cardinals Top Bucs

Phils, Mets Notch 3-2 Victories

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ron Santo, who started the season in a batting slump, recently had shown some signs of improvement.

But the hard-hitting Chicago Cub third baseman improved all over the place Tuesday with the first 5-for-5 game of his career as the Cubs pounded San Francisco 10-2.

At one point early in the season, Santo was hitting something like .086 and not until the Cubs returned for their current home stand did he start getting some hits. He has 10 of his 18 hits in the club's last five games.

"When I started hitting the ball well, but wasn't getting base hits, I began thinking I was doing something wrong," said Santo. "I tried to adjust here and there when there was no need to.

"Finally, I told myself to forget about it and just get up there and swing. Now the base hits are falling in and it's about time."

Also hitting a lot better in Wrigley Field's familiar surroundings is Ernie Banks with eight hits—two of them homers—and eight runs batted in during the last five games. He had two hits, one a two-run double, in Tuesday's triumph.

In other National League action, St. Louis topped Pittsburgh 6-3, Houston beat Los Angeles, 5-2, Philadelphia nudged Atlanta 3-2 and the New York Mets slipped past Cincinnati 3-2 in 11 innings.

The Cubs scored four times in the sixth inning, with pitcher Ray Culp's two-run triple the big blow. Glenn Beckert homered for the Cubs and Tom Haller of the Giants extended his hitting streak to seven straight before grounding out.

Orlando Cepeda had four hits, drove in two runs and scored two himself in the Cards' victory. Roger Maris, who has been passing up the long ball for base hits, got his first National League homer.

Ron Davis' homer and run-scoring single led the Astros past the Dodgers and Larry Dierker picked up his third victory against two defeats with some ninth-inning relief help from Claude Raymond.

Reliever Dick Hall for the Phillies got Hank Aaron to hit a foul fly with the bases loaded and two out in the eighth, preserving the Philadelphia victory. Don Lock's two-run homer gave the Phils the margin.

Tommy Davis' 11th-inning homer gave the Mets their win and handed Mel Queen his first defeat after four straight triumphs. Queen came in the game in the eighth and handcuffed the Mets on six strikeouts until Davis' shot, his third, ended the game.

Major League Teams Begin Roster Cuts

By The Associated Press

Walt Bond has to be wondering just what a fellow has to do to stay in the major leagues and Mike Epstein seems to be heading for another shot at the minors' Most Valuable Player award as baseball's final cutoff date arrived today.

By midnight, local time, tonight, all the major-league clubs must have cut their rosters to 25 players and most of the teams still have a few performers to assign elsewhere or release them.

Minnesota announced Tuesday they were sending pitcher Dwight Siebler to their Denver PCL Farm and were getting rid of outfielder Andy Kosco, possibly in a trade.

They gave Bond his outright release, even though in 16 pinch-hit appearances the big outfielder had five hits, one home run and five runs batted in. Last year at Denver, Bond hit .313.

Epstein, best player in the minors at Rochester last year, still was the subject of discussion in the Baltimore hierarchy Tuesday, but the unofficial word seemed to be that he would be sent back down.

The Orioles had been trying to make a trade for the hard-hitting first baseman, but the other teams apparently couldn't meet their price.

The only clubs besides the Twins to have reached the player limit are Atlanta, the Chicago White Sox and California.

Carew Continues Hit Streak

Twins Rap Senators, 11-1; Tigers Edge Indians, 4-3

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The advice Rod Carew gets doesn't go in one ear and out the other. Both ears are too busy listening—one ear to one language and the other ear to another.

Sometimes, however, Carew's bat does the talking, such as Tuesday night when he rapped three hits, giving him eight in two nights, as Minnesota crushed Washington 11-1.

Carew is an American who was born in Panama and learned Spanish fluently before moving to Brooklyn. As a result of his bilingual ability, the 21-year-old second baseman gets advice in Spanish from his Latin teammates and advice in English from his U.S. teammates.

Sometimes the advice comes during a game—even during a pitch.

"Once," the rookie explained, "Cesar Tovar yelled, 'Mira el toque,' from center field while Harmon Killebrew was telling me to be heads up from first base. Tovar was telling me to watch for the bunt. I expect both so I've been able to handle it."

Carew also has been able to handle American League pitching, and it's partly because he's listened so well.

"They told me in spring training to take the bat off my shoulder and swing," the left-handed hitter said. "That's what I've been doing. Tovar and Tony Oliva told me to just go up there and stroke the ball. Don't try to hit it out of the park.

"It's paying off so far. I never thought I would do this well. But the guys tell me they're going to keep falling in."

The hits have fallen in so well so far that Carew is hitting .342, third best in the league.

Pretty soon he'll be able to start giving advice of his own—in Spanish and in English.

In other AL games, Detroit edged Cleveland 4-3, Chicago nipped Baltimore 5-4, Kansas City topped Boston 4-3 before bowing 5-2 and New York squeaked by California 2-1.

Carew stretched his streak to seven straight hits before he was given credit for a fielder's choice on a run-scoring squeeze bunt. He also drove in a run with a double while Zoilo Versalles knocked in three with two singles and Killebrew delivered two with a double and a single.

Home runs by Al Kaline, with one on, and Bill Freehan, with none on, powered Detroit past Cleveland. Catcher Duke Sims, who let in a Tiger run with a passed ball, homered for the Indians.

Chicago extended its winning streak to five games and Baltimore's losing string to five. Pitcher Gary Peters tripled in the seventh inning and scored the decisive run on Don Buford's single. Tommie Agee and Ron Hansen homered for Chicago while Boog Powell connected for the Orioles.

Kansas City won the opener of its doubleheader when Don McMahon walked Bert Campaneris with two out and the bases loaded in the eighth inning. But Boston struck back in the nightcap, scoring all five of its runs in the ninth—the last three on Carl Yastrzemski's two-out double.

The New York Yankees got just three hits against California, but two of them helped score runs. John Kennedy doubled in the third and scored on Jim Fregosi's error, and Elston Howard singled in the fourth and later scored as Kennedy flied out.

Olympic Group Eyes Crackdown Of Professionals

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The International Olympic Committee plans a crackdown in the 1968 Games at Mexico City in an effort to prevent any professionals from competing.

Avery Brundage of Chicago, president of the IOC, said Tuesday that athletes will have to list their occupations and the names of their employers on a new Olympic entry form.

In the past, he said, the amateur status of the athletes had to be confirmed by the signatures of the president of their sports federation and Olympic committees, but that professionals still managed to compete.

"In the next Olympic Games for the first time we are going to try to control the rule on amateurism," Brundage, said. "We don't want people in the Olympic Games if they make their livelihood from sport."

He added that proof that an athlete was not a true amateur would still be difficult to obtain and asked newspapers to print any evidence of professionalism to help the IOC crack down.

Pretty soon he'll be able to start giving advice of his own—in Spanish and in English.

In other AL games, Detroit edged Cleveland 4-3, Chicago nipped Baltimore 5-4, Kansas City topped Boston 4-3 before bowing 5-2 and New York squeaked by California 2-1.

Carew stretched his streak to seven straight hits before he was given credit for a fielder's choice on a run-scoring squeeze bunt. He also drove in a run with a double while Zoilo Versalles knocked in three with two singles and Killebrew delivered two with a double and a single.

Home runs by Al Kaline, with one on, and Bill Freehan, with none on, powered Detroit past Cleveland. Catcher Duke Sims, who let in a Tiger run with a passed ball, homered for the Indians.

Chicago extended its winning streak to five games and Baltimore's losing string to five. Pitcher Gary Peters tripled in the seventh inning and scored the decisive run on Don Buford's single. Tommie Agee and Ron Hansen homered for Chicago while Boog Powell connected for the Orioles.

Kansas City won the opener of its doubleheader when Don McMahon walked Bert Campaneris with two out and the bases loaded in the eighth inning. But Boston struck back in the nightcap, scoring all five of its runs in the ninth—the last three on Carl Yastrzemski's two-out double.

The New York Yankees got just three hits against California, but two of them helped score runs. John Kennedy doubled in the third and scored on Jim Fregosi's error, and Elston Howard singled in the fourth and later scored as Kennedy flied out.

Olympic Group Eyes Crackdown Of Professionals

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The International Olympic Committee plans a crackdown in the 1968 Games at Mexico City in an effort to prevent any professionals from competing.

Avery Brundage of Chicago, president of the IOC, said Tuesday that athletes will have to list their occupations and the names of their employers on a new Olympic entry form.

In the past, he said, the amateur status of the athletes had to be confirmed by the signatures of the president of their sports federation and Olympic committees, but that professionals still managed to compete.

"In the next Olympic Games for the first time we are going to try to control the rule on amateurism," Brundage, said. "We don't want people in the Olympic Games if they make their livelihood from sport."

He added that proof that an athlete was not a true amateur would still be difficult to obtain and asked newspapers to print any evidence of professionalism to help the IOC crack down.

Woman Wants To Umpire Baseball, Goes To School

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernice Gera doesn't want to play first base for the Yankees but she sees no reason why she can't stand behind the plate and call balls and strikes.

"For the life of me, I don't understand why women can't be baseball umpires," the blonde, 35-year-old Long Island housewife said today. "Look who you have doing the job now, a bunch of old men in their 50s, many of them fat and out of shape.

"You don't have to be an athlete to be an umpire. All you need is to know baseball, have good eyesight and good judgment. There are a lot of women who can fill that bill.

"I'm certain we will some day have women umpiring in the majors—maybe sooner than you think."

It may be Bernice—a 5-foot-2, 125-pound package of energy who says, "I have loved, eaten and lived baseball since I was eight years old. I want to find a place in baseball, preferably umpiring."

Bernice has applied—and been accepted—for the Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Baseball School, opening June 1. The first woman ever to be admitted to the camp, she will spend four weeks there absorbing instruction from such baseball Hall of Famers as Max Carey and Bob Feller.

"I have a letter and telegram confirming my enrollment," Mrs. Gera said. "They know I'm a woman, and they didn't turn me down. I'll see how things go. When I get out, I'll probably start making applications to umpire."

The youngest of five children of a coal miner, Bernice began playing baseball with her two older brothers when she was eight in her home town of Indiana, Pa.

She often filled in as an outfieder on a boys' team. In her teens, she moved to Detroit where she pitched and played outfield with the Highland Parkers, a women's softball outfit.

She had a trunk full of trophies when she moved to New York in 1949, later marrying a free lance photographer, Steven Gera. She couldn't shake her interest in baseball.

She started coaching Little League teams and giving exhibitions for charity. She has hit against major league pitchers and performed with such personalities as Roger Maris, Sid Gordon and Cal Abrams. She gave a batting demonstration at Kansas City three years ago—at the invitation of Charles O. Finley, the owner of the A's.

"I'm going to give a batting exhibition against Bob Feller in West Palm Beach in June," she said. "If I do say so myself, I am a good batter. I can hit the long ball."

The shapely Mrs. Gera has a certificate attesting to the fact that she has 20-20 vision, but that's not the main problem.

Most ball players have good eyesight, too, and who's going to make them keep their eyes on the ball?

Mikita Leads NHL Players On Star Team

MONTREAL (AP) — Stan Mikita, the scoring champion, and three other members of the Chicago Black Hawks were named today to the National Hockey League's first All-Star team for the 1966-67 season.

Mikita, a center, was the only unanimous choice. Defenseman Pierre Pilote, left winger Bobby Hull and right winger Ken Wharram of Chicago also were selected along with goalie Ed Giacomin and defenseman Harry Howell of the New York Rangers.

Right winger Gordie Howe and center Norm Ullman of Detroit, goalie Glenn Hall of Chicago, defenseman Tim Horton of Toronto and rookie Bobby Orr of Boston and left winger Don Marshall of the Rangers were picked for the second team.

Mikita accumulated the maximum 180 points in the unique system of voting by hockey writers and broadcasters. One vote was taken after the first half of the season and another after the second half and the players with the most total points for both halves were named to the first team.

It was the first time in 24 years that the Montreal Canadiens did not have a player on either the first or second All-Star team.

Mikita, 26-year-old native of Czechoslovakia, recently was named the circuit's Most Valuable Player. He scored 97 points in regular season, tying the league record set by Hull in 1965-66.

Beard Opens Defense At New Orleans

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Frank Beard, the hottest golfer on the play-for-pay circuit, has both bitter and sweet memories of New Orleans.

It was here, as a struggling young pro in 1964, that he came down with the dreaded disease encephalitis and nearly lost his life.

It was here that he married his wife Pat, a pretty former airline stewardess he had met through the late Tony Lema.

And it was here that he won $20,000 as first-prize money for the 1966 $100,000 Greater New Orleans Open.

Beard's back to defend the title and because he has won two tournaments in the past month and $50,000 this year, he's tagged as the favorite.

Beard and most of the other pros each teamed up with three amateur partners today for the $5,000 pro-am preliminary — an event which one pro once described as "where you give out $1,000 worth of free advice and might win $100."

The 72-hole scramble for this year's $20,000 first prize money starts Thursday.

Others in the field include slumping Jack Nicklaus, colorful Doug Sanders, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Jay and Lionel Hebert, former British Open champ Bob Charles, Gardner Dickinson, Johnny Pott, Gene Littler and Ken Venturi.

Beard, who turned 28 just 10 days ago, made a miraculous recovery from encephalitis, which often causes permanent brain damage.

Because Father John Moore, a New Orleans priest, had befriended him, Beard wanted his marriage vows celebrated before Father Moore than he and the former Pat Roberts were married here in October 1965.

Last year, as the bespectacled Louisville shotmaker, younger brother of former Kentucky All-America basketball player Ralph Beard, won the tourney here, Pat, expecting their first child, and Father Moore were in the gallery.

"I'm standing way back here so I can pray for Frank and not disturb the playing," Father Moore confided at one point.

Pat Beard is expecting again but both she and Father Moore plan to be behind Frank when he tees off.

One of today's amateurs will be Ron Widby, Tennessee's star basketball player and punting specialist on the Vol football team. He was drafted by the National Football League's New Orleans Saints, who plan to have a representative at the course today with a contract for Widby.

The signing ceremonies are scheduled when Widby makes the turn after the first nine holes.

Brewer's Entry Wins First Pigeon Race

Comet owned by William Brewer finished first in the East Liverpool Homing Club race from Newark.

The winning time was one hour, 36 minutes and 9 seconds. Sweet Hart, owned by Bill Cain was second while Allison's Bollingqueen was third.

The next race will be flown from the same station.

Hank Aaron is working on a two - year contract with the Atlanta Braves.

Schedule Is Set For Heavyweights

NEW YORK (AP) — The eight-man heavyweight elimination tournament looks like a tidy little package, but in the wide world of boxing even the angles have angles.

This is the way Mike Malitz, president of the newly-formed Sports Action, Inc., has it lined up in his schedule book:

July 15—Floyd Patterson, New York, vs. Oscar Bonavena, Argentina, at the Houston Astrodome.

Aug 4-5—Ernie Terrell, Chicago, vs. Jimmy Ellis, Louisville, Ky.

Sept. 2-16—Joe Frazier, Philadelphia, vs. George Chuvalo, Toronto.

Sept. 16-Oct. 7—Karl Mildenberger, West Germany, vs. Thad Spencer, San Francisco, in Frankfurt, Germany.

Tentatively the semifinals would be held Oct. 21 and Dec. 2 and the finals in late January, 1968.

But no contracts are signed.

So much for the planning board. If things work out, the fights would be held late Saturday afternoon and would be carried on home television with the finals reserved for closed circuit television.

However, and this is a capital letter HOWEVER, Cassius Clay still is on the premises. Although he has been stripped of his title by the New York State Athletic Commission and other groups, he is out on bail after pleading "not guilty" to a federal grand jury indictment on charges of refusing to be drafted into the armed forces. It is extremely doubful if he can fight in the United States.

Clay, who prefers his Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, wants to fight Chuvalo in Montreal and there is talk of bouts with Leotis Martin in Stockholm and possibly Spencer or Patterson in Tokyo during the summer.

U.S. Dist. Judge Ben C. Connally in Houston said Clay would have to ask court permission for any trip outside the United States.

Chuvalo's manager, Irv Ungerman, said in Toronto he was "very, very eager" for a Clay bout but added "we'll try to fight Frazier in the elimination tournament."

One of the keys is the unbeatend Frazier, who so far has not agreed to participate in the tournament for which each first-round fighter will get a guarantee of $50,000.

Schedule Is Set For Heavyweights

NEW YORK (AP) — The eight-man heavyweight elimination tournament looks like a tidy little package, but in the wide world of boxing even the angles have angles.

This is the way Mike Malitz, president of the newly-formed Sports Action, Inc., has it lined up in his schedule book:

July 15—Floyd Patterson, New York, vs. Oscar Bonavena, Argentina, at the Houston Astrodome.

Aug 4-5—Ernie Terrell, Chicago, vs. Jimmy Ellis, Louisville, Ky.

Sept. 2-16—Joe Frazier, Philadelphia, vs. George Chuvalo, Toronto.

Sept. 16-Oct. 7—Karl Mildenberger, West Germany, vs. Thad Spencer, San Francisco, in Frankfurt, Germany.

Tentatively the semifinals would be held Oct. 21 and Dec. 2 and the finals in late January, 1968.

But no contracts are signed.

So much for the planning board. If things work out, the fights would be held late Saturday afternoon and would be carried on home television with the finals reserved for closed circuit television.

However, and this is a capital letter HOWEVER, Cassius Clay still is on the premises. Although he has been stripped of his title by the New York State Athletic Commission and other groups, he is out on bail after pleading "not guilty" to a federal grand jury indictment on charges of refusing to be drafted into the armed forces. It is extremely doubful if he can fight in the United States.

Clay, who prefers his Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, wants to fight Chuvalo in Montreal and there is talk of bouts with Leotis Martin in Stockholm and possibly Spencer or Patterson in Tokyo during the summer.

U.S. Dist. Judge Ben C. Connally in Houston said Clay would have to ask court permission for any trip outside the United States.

Chuvalo's manager, Irv Ungerman, said in Toronto he was "very, very eager" for a Clay bout but added "we'll try to fight Frazier in the elimination tournament."

One of the keys is the unbeaten Frazier, who so far has not agreed to participate in the tournament for which each first-round fighter will get a guarantee of $50,000.

Wirtz Defends New Plans On Mine Radiation Levels

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz has defended his new regulations on radiation levels in underground uranium mines in the face of criticisms they are impractical and could force shutdowns of some mines.

Wirtz told a Joint Committee on Atomic Energy subcommittee he set the new standards after deciding there was little prospect the Federal Radiation Council would recommend any action. The council, made up of Cabinet members, has studied the matter for several years.

Subcommittee Chairman Chet Holifield, D-Calif., called the new regulations impractical, a stance also taken by industry spokesman.

Failure to change the regulations would expose miners to radiation levels "which at least triple their prospects of dying of lung cancer," Wirtz contended.

Holifield called the new standard arbitrary and criticized Wirtz' order requiring mining companies to prove they are in compliance. He said the companies would have difficulty doing so because of difficulties in measuring underground radiation levels.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Yugoslav immigrant has admitted being part of the conspiracy which resulted in the Jan. 29 bombings of six Yugoslav diplomatic missions in the United States and Canada. But he won't talk about his fellow conspirators.

Testimony made public Tuesday showed that Dragisha Kasikovic, 34, told a grand jury of his role in the bombings.

He refused to identify others involved despite a court order accompanied by a grant of immunity from prosecution resulting from any further testimony.

Kasikovic's refusal to answer grand jury questions means he can be jailed for months — the life of the grand jury — or until he decides to testify further.

He told the grand jury the bombings were done for propaganda purposes "to let people know the true nature of the Yugoslavian regime, its roles in world politics and its role in Communist conspiracies against the free world and the United States."

Kasikovic, a naturalized citizen now living in Chicago, once was imprisoned in Yugoslavia as an enemy of the Tito regime.

The pre-dawn bombings, almost simultaneous, hit Yugoslav embassies at Washington and Ottawa and consulates in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Toronto.

President Johnson has authorized an $18,000 grant to the World Health Organization to establish a system to study and report on adverse effects of new drugs.

The Justice Department has asked the Federal Communications Commission for a brief delay in its consideration of the proposed merger of American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., and International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

The Internal Revenue Service has issued new guidelines — retroactive to 1964 — for deduction of educational expenses by teachers and physicians.

Chester Club Told Of Gains In Drug Field

Recent findings about the chemistry of cell life and reproduction have stimulated "a feeling that the drug industry is on the edge of pharmaceutical breakthroughs which will make earlier discoveries look small," according to Richard J. Lenz, district manager of Pfizer Laboratories.

Lenz spoke Tuesday night to the Chester Kiwanis Club in the City Hall auditorium. He has been with Pfizer since 1961, after serving as a teacher and coach both in Ohio and Pennsylvania schools.

The prospect of startling new pharmaceutical breakthroughs comes on top of many astonishing gains made in recent years, he added. "About three out of four drugs in use today were not even known 15 years ago," Lenz noted.

Molecular biology, he said, has given medical researchers brand new leads into the difficult areas of birth defects and cancer. Experimental work in animals with viral infections has raised the possibility that in the future we may be made immune not just to specify diseases, but many different kinds of viruses with but a single treatment, he continued.

Lenz noted the total U.S. drug industry research investment for 1966 was over $400 million and the majority of his own company's $25 million research and development budget for 1967 will be spent on drug studies.

Thayer Allison presided over the business meeting.

Harold Bishop rejoined the club following a leave of absence.

Allison announced that Alvin Fineman and John Boyd will attend the Oak Glen High School Key Club meeting today.

The next meeting will be May 16.

For Poor In North Carolina

OEO Due To Reject Bid On Fund To Print Paper

WASHINGTON (AP)—A controversial request for federal funds to publish a weekly newspaper for the poor in western North Carolina is not likely to win approval from the antipoverty agency, sources indicated today.

In the past, the Office of Economic Opportunity has refused to fund a newspaper project because, as one official said last year, "there are serious doubts as to the propriety of federal funding of a commercial newspaper."

The OEO has, however, given funds to local community action agencies which have used part of the money to print mimeographed newsletters explaining antipoverty programs and giving other information. This is particularly true on Indian reservations.

The North Carolina controversy arose when WAMY Community Action Inc., local antipoverty organization in the counties of Watauga, Avery, Mitchell and Yancey, requested $179,000 to begin a weekly newspaper.

The proposal, dated April 11, said the funds also would be used to present a daily hour-long radio program over local commercial stations.

When the request was made public, North Carolina congressmen and the Asheville, N.C., Citizen criticized the proposal.

"This project is unnecessary, unrealistic, unwise and un-American," said Rep. Roy A. Taylor, D-N.C. "It is an insult to America's newspapers, big and small, and to the American free enterprise system. It is a step toward federally financed and controlled press."

An OEO spokesman said the request had been received here but no action had been taken on it.

Informed sources indicated the project would not receive federal approval because the similar request 1½ years ago — the only other such proposal received — was turned down.

The OEO at that time told University Neighborhood Council, a Washington community action agency, it could not approve its request for $150,000 because "the project is not sufficiently innovative."

Board Hires Instructors At Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — Two teachers were employed by the East Palestine board of education at a meeting Monday night at the high school.

Carman B. Chick of 103 W. Main St., a Youngstown University graduate, was hired to teach special education.

Mrs. Paul E. (Kathryn) Lange of 120 Indian Trail, Poland, was hired to teach high school English. She is a graduate of Mt. Union college and formerly taught here two years.

The board agreed the prevailing salary schedule for the next year will be in line with state standards, which are expected to be revised.

In view of heavy registration for summer driving classes, James E. Nesbitt was hired for 12 weeks at a salary of $1,800. In previous years he taught only eight or nine weeks.

William Offenbecher will be paid $450 for a six-week physical fitness program.

The board will open bids in June for improvements to the Unity School, the home economics department at the high school and roof repairs to all buildings. George Tanner of Boardman, architect, is preparing plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Cope of Columbiana were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Cope.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crook were Tom and Nancy Crook and Roger Herman of Canton.

James Crook of Canton visited Mrs. Martha Crook over the weekend.

Both parents of Will Rogers, noted humorist, had some Cherokee Indian blood.

Coverdish Event Set By PTA For Closing Meeting

Plans for the final meeting of the season, a family coverdish dinner, were completed when members of the Ray Snyder Parent - Teacher Association executive board met at the home of Mrs. Sam McKinney in Industry.

The meeting will be held Thursday at 6:30 p. m. in the school.

Ham, rolls and beverages will be furnished by the PTA and desserts by kindergarten mothers.

Each family is to bring a coverdish and table service.

James Ellis, instructor at the Chaffin Vocational School, will present a program on cake decorating.

Officers will be installed. Mrs. Robert Loncar, president, will conduct a short business session. Mrs. McKinney, incoming president, will close the meeting.

During the board meeting, the membership chairman, Mrs. Doris Dawson, announced that the PTA has 153 members, with nine having perfect attendance.

Mrs. Woodrow Pflugh, librarian, will purchase books in honor of those members.

Mrs. Pflugh and Mrs. George Anderson reported the books audited and approved.

Mrs. Loncar announced that the annual PTA spring conference will be held at Knox, Pa., May 20.

Mrs. Delano Diamond assisted the hostess in serving.

You might like to try using brown sugar instead of the usual white sugar when you are making a marinade for pickled mushrooms.

What is A Mother?

To her family, she's special.
She's understanding,
a banquet chef, a short order cook,
a fountain of love, a chauffeur,
warmth and security.
She's clean socks, starched dresses,
a mender of hurts.
She's scrubbed ears,
a tender nurse, a maid, a queen.

She deserves a day of honor and tribute.
She deserves the love of those she loves.

Yes, she's very, very special.

This Sunday, you'll tell your mother
how much you care.
We'd like to tell all mothers, "We Care, too."

Florida Eyes Federal Aid For Drought

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Floridians are looking to Washington for what the U.S. Weather Bureau has not promised — relief from the drought for their animals and crops.

Sen. George Smathers, D-Fla., has urged Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman in a telegram to approve Tuesday's request from Gov. Claude Kirk to declare 24 counties a disaster area.

Dried Everglades riverbottoms look like adobe bricks in the sun.

Miami is setting heat records.

Stephen Foster's storied Suwannee River is a coffee-colored trickle just 18 inches deep.

Where flood markers show the Suwannee flooded to 40 feet, small mock riverboats at the Stephen Foster Memorial canceled cruises because their keels scraped bottom.

Miccousukee Indians, a breakaway arm of the Seminoles who live in the Everglades, take the drought seriously. But Bobby Tiger, one of the Indians, said his alligators smell rain in the air despite Weather Bureau forecasts to the contrary.

In Miami, the Weather Bureau looked at its scientific instruments and said, "Rainfall accumulations of a few tenths of an inch will occur at a few locations resulting from widely scattered showers while most locations will receive little or no rain through the period."

Students Stage Demonstrations In Pennsylvania

By The Associated Press

Hundreds of persons demonstrated without incident and for different reasons at two Pennsylvania colleges Tuesday night.

More than 300 students and faculty members demonstrated for free speech on the Lafayette College campus in Easton under close police surveillance.

At East Stroudsburg State College, some 300 students staged an orderly demonstration in front of the campus administration building to ask for a voice in drawing up student regulations.

In Easton, a police official said the "show of force" by police was necessary because of a possible recurence of violence last week, when some 25 anti - Vietnam demonstators picketing the appearance of an attache from the South Vietnamese embassy in Washington were attacked by a large group of fellow students.

Armand L. Shaner, assistant dean for student affairs of the 1,800-student men's college, said disciplinary action has been taken against last week's attackers.

In East Stroudsburg, the students carried placards branding some student regulations as archaic.

One of the leaders of the demonstration cited poor scheduling of final exams as one area of contention and suggested that other rules—including weekend midnight curfew for female students—be liberalized.

There was no immediate reply from the administration.

CLEVELAND (AP)—The 25th annual convention of the Accredited Home Newspapers of America, an association of weekly newspaper publishers, opens here Thursday. Drew Pearson, Washington columnist, will be banquet speaker Friday night.

3 Sentences Handed Down

LISBON — Judge Raymond S. Buzzard of Common Pleas Court handed down three prison sentences Tuesday against Vernon R. Etters, 24, formerly of Lisbon R. D. 5.

The court ordered concurrent sentences of 10 to 25 years for armed robbery, 1 to 20 years for auto theft and 1 to 5 years for breaking and entering.

All three offenses occurred within the space of an hour or so Jan. 17 when Etters broke into the home of Maurice Young on the Lisbon - Salem Rd., used a butcher knife to force Young to write him a check for $200, then stole Young's 1964 sedan when the owner ran to a nearby market to get help.

The January grand jury indicted Etters on the three counts, but he was not here for arraignment. Judge Joel H. Sharp of Common Pleas Court had sentenced him earlier in January to 15 years in Ohio Penitentiary for a burglary Dec. 15 at Ferrier's News Agency in Salem. Etters pleaded guilty.

Sheriff Russell J. Van Fossan returned Etters from the penitentiary 10 days ago for arraignment and trial. The defendant pleaded guilty to breaking and entering and not guilty to armed robbery and auto theft. He asked for separate trials.

A jury convicted him of auto theft Monday. He was scheduled for trial today on the armed robbery charge, but changed his plea to guilty yesterday.

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Margaret Hansen and her Holsteins hit Nigeria Tuesday after two weeks at sea.

Miss Hansen, 43, quit dairy farming in Middletown, N.Y., to make her second tour in Africa with the Peace Corps.

"I am nothing like the Peace Corps image," she said aboard the freighter African Lightning which carried her 109 heifers from Vermont, New York and Connecticut. They left New York City April 24.

She will accompany the cattle to Ikenne in western Nigeria, about 50 miles north of Lagos and plans to spend at least two years helping to breed her charges, all yearlings.

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Nineteen years ago when Ana Tokita was widowed and left virtually penniless she made a vow — to see that her eight children attended college.

Her pledge fulfilled, Mrs. Tokita was presented the Japanese American Citizens League's first Mother of the Year award Tuesday night.

In 1948 Mrs. Tokita and her husband leased a small downtown hotel. When the arrangements were completed they had $7 left. Within seven months he had succumbed to an illness.

Happy-Go-Lucky Dog Watches Thief Flee

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Mrs. Robert Krun, who manages a motel with her husband, took in a dirty, bedraggled hound dog who came to the motel looking for shelter. But he didn't seem to appreciate it.

Mrs. Krun said the hound, who had been cleaned and fed, sat idly by and watched a thief rifle the motel cash register of about $350 and flee on a motorcycle.

"He was just a happy-go-lucky hound," she said about the dog. "Instead of chasing after him, he just sat there. He's a big deal."

That Really Helps

NEW DELHI (AP) — Drivers contemplating trips through the crowded lanes of old Delhi would do well to take boxing lessons first. Movement of traffic has completely collapsed various times recently during rush hours. And one evening, 20 cars were damaged in a hopeless traffic jam, during which the drivers got out and battled each other.

Days Are Numbered For Bucket Brigade

GUADALUPITA, N. M. (AP) — The days of the bucket brigade are numbered in this northern New Mexico village located at the end of a dirt road.

Through a $14,500 loan approved recently by the Farmers Home Administration, residents are planning a water system.

The water system will bring running water to the village, marking an end to the practice of hauling water in buckets from a river and irrigation ditches.

Economy In Peoria In Healthy Situation

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Peoria's economy is healthy and its cultural resources encourage citizen participation, an economic investigator has revealed.

Donald M. Nelson, a mortgage loan supervisor with the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company, said Peoria's retail sales have risen from $467 million in 1963 to $611 million in 1965.

"This is a much more rapid rise than any other community that we have surveyed," he said.

Nelson's study of Peoria impressed him "by the grass-roots participation of local citizens in city improvement," he said.

"They manage to get volunteers for everything. This is significant not only in social and economic progress but in increasing its cultural resources."

Corporate Pension Plans IRS Headache

CHICAGO (AP) — Corporate pension plans are growing headache for the Internal Revenue Service.

Commerce Clearing House said in a report that IRS may soon have to give close consideration to a standard or master-type corporate retirement plan.

Without such a plan, the IRS may find it increasingly difficult to keep current on the number of plans being submitted.

There were 63,497 plans approved from 1920 through 1960, while 68,468 plans were approved from 1961 through 1966.

A standard or master plan could be used to simplify submission of pension or profit-sharing plans for IRS approval to get favorable federal tax benefits.

Senate's Okay Will Extend Draft Laws

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications are the Senate will grant quick passage to a bill providing a four-year extension of the draft law.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., bringing the bill to the floor today, said his Armed Services Committee unanimously backed the measure. It calls for drafting 19-year-olds first, instead of the present system of taking older men in the 18 to 26 age bracket.

Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, the draft director, was to testify today on similar legislation before the House Armed Services Committee.

Retired Gen. Mark W. Clark told the House committee Tuesday that people who urge others to violate draft laws should be severely punished.

Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., a committee member, said later on the floor he is "amazed to learn the Department of Justice does not intend to prosecute these people."

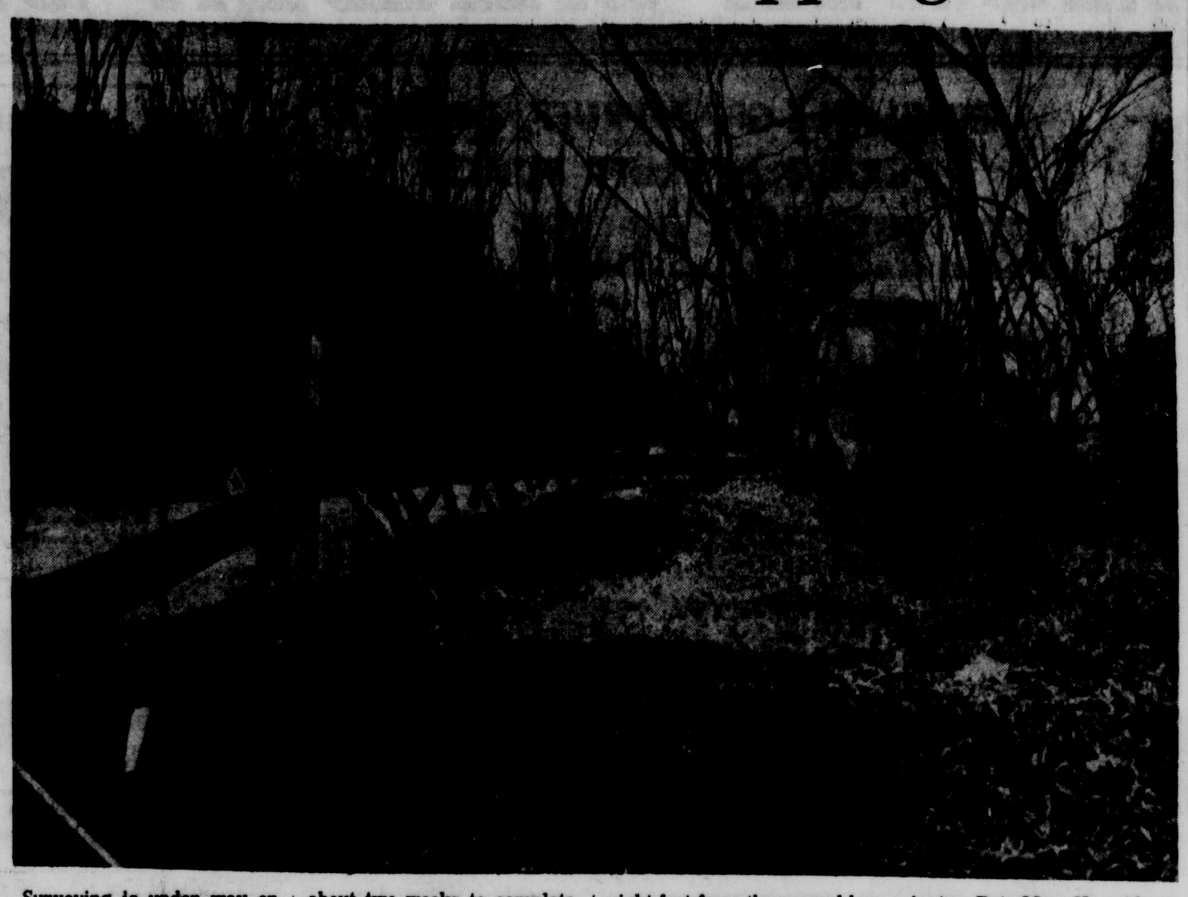
School Bus Transportation Curtailed

Work Planned On 'Slipping' Road



Surveying is under way on a section of the Washington School Rd., near Chester which partially slid away last week, causing school bus transportation for 25 pupils in the area to be curtailed.

Walter Batalo, superintendent at the Pughtown office of the West Virginia State Road Commission, said Tuesday construction work should begin within a month, requiring about two weeks to complete.

The road will be relocated nearer the hillside for a distance of about 150 feet since the SRC crews have found filling the slide does no good, he added.

Batalo said he and Manley Howard, District 6 chief engineer, had studied the situation and decided on the relocation action. The road along that stretch has sunk some eight feet from the normal level.

Barricades and warning signs have been erected. The road is still passable, although narrow in the area, Batalo pointed out.

The school bus service was discontinued today, but students will be picked up by buses if they walk to either end of the road, according to a school transportation coordinator, Pete May. He said regular service will be resumed when the repairs are completed. The decision was made when it was decided the heavy buses might cause more slippage.

May said students will have to walk probably no more than a half - mile to get a ride either to the Chester elementary schools or Oak Glen High School.

Rotary Club Given Report

Three area youths who attended the recent Rotary World Institute at Cincinnati spoke to members of the Rotary Club at the Tuesday noon meeting in the Travelers Hotel.

William Hopper of East Liverpool High School, Dennis Klembara of Beaver Local and Mark Strahan of Oak Glen reviewed the two - day institute, which centered upon activities of NATO.

Discussions were held and panels led by speakers from government, industry, and education, the three explained, with the concluding theme being that NATO should remain in Europe, retain its American representation and become a political agency rather than an arm of military might.

John Hedrick was program chairman.

Arthur Doak presided.

Two Will Attend Chicago Meeting

Presidents and staff men from all areas will be present at the conference, which Kology likened to "the type P. and M. Workers use to have to discuss wage policy and contracts."

House Braces For Overflow Crowd

Ohio Welfare Department Due To Testify On Budget

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Officials charged with keeping order in the Ohio House braced for an expected overflow of visitors as the House Finance Committee called for testimony tonight from the Department of Public Welfare.

Chairman Ralph E. Fisher's committee is considering Gov. James A. Rhodes' $4.9 billion operating budget, a big slice of which would go for welfare payments attacked on several fronts as inadequate.

Various welfare groups have staged demonstrations at the Statehouse and delivered several thousand signatures to Fisher in a bid to boost payments now estimated at only about 70 per cent of recommended standards.

House Sergenat-at-arms Harry Corkwell, a veteran at handling big crowds for committee hearings, said he understood as many as 2,000 persons might try to jam committee room corridors "but they will be turned away if they try it."

Corkwell said the largest House committee room seats about 200 and will be filled on a "first come, first served" basis.

Corkwell said he understood fuses of persons were coming from Cleveland, Dayton and Toledo and possibly other cities.

Two years ago, when the legislature was considering the "fair bus" bill which extended transportation to private and parochial school pupils, a big throng jammed the hallways and created a safety hazard that required the Highway Patrol to clear people away.

"We will see that this doesn't happen again," Corkwell said.

Fisher's Finance Committee has been grinding out three-a-day hearings on the big budget document needed to run the state for two years beginning July 1. The chairman indicated he wants House action by the end of next week so the Senate will have five weeks to consider it.

Tuesday night, Martin A. Janis, director of mental hygiene and correction, explained the financial requests of his department which employs one-third of all state employes–about 15,000.

Janis asked for $287.5 million to run Ohio's 27 mental institutions and nine adult correctional facilities and their various programs during the 1967-69 biennium. This would be an increase of $73.6 million from the current biennium.

The director said the increase would include additional funds for Broadview Heights Hospital acquired by the state last year and the more recently acquired former federal prison at Chillicothe.

Janis held out hope that a pending state employe pay raise bill will help his department recruit employes for hard-to- fill positions and also reduce personnel turnover which he estimated at 42 per cent a year.

The director said present authorized personnel for the department is 15,543 but "there are about 400 unfilled vacancies at this moment." He said budget plans called for addition of about 1,000 employes in the next two years.

Committee members questioned Janis at length about criticisms of mental hospitals in newspapers and elsewhere. He acknowledged most of them are "basically accurate" but said he believed the criticisms were aimed not at the department but at its limited resources and staffing problems.

He cited figures to show accomplishments during the past 10 years of mental health programs in Ohio, including a reduction in the mental hospital population from 26,000 in 1957 to 20,124 last June 30.

Youngstown Set To Join State Schools

By Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Youngstown State University is only the governor's signature away from creation after unanimous adoption of enabling legislation by the Ohio Senate Tuesday.

Co-sponsors of the bill included Sen. John Longsworth R-Salem, and Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel R-Columbiana.

Immediate effect of state status at Youngstown, sponsors pointed out, will be a reduction in tuition from $540 to $450 a year.

The university, with 11,666 full- and part-time students enrolled during the spring semester, is allotted $10.6 million in state operating funds in the 1968-69 state budget now under consideration in the House Finance Committee.

The five - college university, established in 1927 as a Young Men's Christian Association (YMCA) school, is expected to reach an enrollment of 20,000 by 1975, according to A. L. Pugsley, the university's president.

Plans also are in the works for development of a graduate program at the university, sponsors said.

Two Akron area senators, Oliver Ocasek D-Northfield and Robert Stockdale R-Kent welcomed Youngstown University into the fraternity of state schools, but at the same time made pointed pleas to the General Assembly for increased funds to operate the expanded state system for higher education.

Ocasek is an Akron University professor and Stockdale a professor at Kent State University.

Hits Key Part Of Election Financing

Senate Passes Measure Restoring Tax Incentives

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate finally has passed the embattled bill restoring major business tax incentives—after rebuking President Johnson by tying to it a rider which would eliminate key sections of the presidential election campaign financing plan.

Foes of the financing plan, with its $1 income tax checkoff, at once claimed it is dead. They said the House is certain to accept the rider in negotiations on the legislation.

The rider, adopted after a confused afternoon of voting Tuesday, leaves the financing plan technically on the books but states it can be reactivated only if Congress fixes guidelines for spending the government subsidy money.

Opponents of the plan said they would block any such law unless it meets their specifications.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., author of the plan, conceded its foes are in the driver's seat.

The final action on the tax bill came after almost seven weeks of bitter floor debate. Most of it centered on the Long financing plan, a subject having nothing to do with tax incentives but attached to the tax bill by procedural maneuver.

Also to be settled in a Senate-House conference on the bill are major differences on the business tax incentive provisions.

The Senate version follows President Johnson's recommendations and offers considerably less advantages to business firms than the House measure, principally through differences in timing.

The incentives restored are the 7 per cent investment credit on machinery and equipment and two favorable accelerated depreciation methods for income-producing buildings.

They were suspended late last year in a move to fight inflation. Sluggishness in the economy brought Johnson's request for their restoration.

Tuesday's floor votes started with a razor-thin victory for forces supporting continuation of the campaign financing plan —including Johnson and high administration officials.

They defeated 49 to 48 a proposal by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., chief advocate of repeal, to make the plan inoperative Sept. 15 unless Congress subsequently decided otherwise.

Then Gore, faced with a compromise offered by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield which he said was unacceptable, thrust forward another provision which attracted enough support to bring Gore from defeat to victory.

Mansfield's plan left the campaign financing act on the books but provided that none of the money could be spent until Congress sets up guidelines for its use by political parties.

Gore added a requirement making the $1 income tax checkoff provision inoperative until the guidelines are enacted —if they ever are.

As passed last year, the plan envisioned income tax designations by taxpayers making up to $30 million available to each of the major parties for the 1968 presidential campaign.

The effect of the rider, if it stays in the bill in conference, is to knock out both the money-collecting and money-disbursing features of the election subsidy plan, leaving only a shell of the act in the law.

Retired Gen. Mark W. Clark told the House committee Tuesday that people who urge others to violate draft laws should be severely punished.

School Bus Transportation Curtailed

Work Planned On 'Slipping' Road

Surveying is under way on a section of the Washington School Rd., near Chester which partially slid away last week, causing school bus transportation for 25 pupils in the area to be curtailed.

Walter Batalo, superintendent at the Pughtown office of the West Virginia State Road Commission, said Tuesday construction work should begin within a month, requiring about two weeks to complete.

The road will be relocated nearer the hillside for a distance of about 150 feet since the SRC crews have found filling the slide does no good, he added.

Batalo said he and Manley Howard, District 6 chief engineer, had studied the situation and decided on the relocation action. The road along that stretch has sunk some eight feet from the normal level.

Barricades and warning signs have been erected. The road is still passable, although narrow in the area, Batalo pointed out.

The school bus service was discontinued today, but students will be picked up by buses if they walk to either end of the road, according to a school transportation coordinator, Pete May. He said regular service will be resumed when the repairs are completed. The decision was made when it was decided the heavy buses might cause more slippage.

May said students will have to walk probably no more than a half - mile to get a ride either to the Chester elementary schools or Oak Glen High School.

House Braces For Overflow Crowd

Ohio Welfare Department Due To Testify On Budget

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Officials charged with keeping order in the Ohio House braced for an expected overflow of visitors as the House Finance Committee called for testimony tonight from the Department of Public Welfare.

Chairman Ralph E. Fisher's committee is considering Gov. James A. Rhodes' $4.9 billion operating budget, a big slice of which would go for welfare payments attacked on several fronts as inadequate.

Various welfare groups have staged demonstrations at the Statehouse and delivered several thousand signatures to Fisher in a bid to boost payments now estimated at only about 70 per cent of recommended standards.

House Sergenat-at-arms Harry Corkwell, a veteran at handling big crowds for committee hearings, said he understood as many as 2,000 persons might try to jam committee room coridors "but they will be turned away if they try it."

Corkwell said the largest House committee room seats about 200 and will be filled on a "first come, first served" basis.

Corkwell said he understood fuses of persons were coming from Cleveland, Dayton and Toledo and possibly other cities.

Two years ago, when the legislature was considering the "fair bus" bill which extended transportation to private and parochial school pupils, a big throng jammed the hallways and created a safety hazard that required the Highway Patrol to clear people away.

"We will see that this doesn't happen again," Corkwell said.

Fisher's Finance Committee has been grinding out three-a-day hearings on the big budget document needed to run the state for two years beginning July 1. The chairman indicated he wants House action by the end of next week so the Senate will have five weeks to consider it.

Tuesday night, Martin A. Janis, director of mental hygiene and correction, explained the financial requests of his department which employs one-third of all state employes--about 15,000.

Janis asked for $287.5 million to run Ohio's 27 mental institutions and nine adult correctional facilities and their various programs during the 1967-69 biennium. This would be an increase of $73.6 million from the current biennium.

The director said the increase would include additional funds for Broadview Heights Hospital acquired by the state last year and the more recently acquired former federal prison at Chillicothe.

Janis held out hope that a pending state employe pay raise bill will help his department recruit employes for hard-to- fill positions and also reduce personnel turnover which he estimated at 42 per cent a year.

The director said present authorized personnel for the department is 15,543 but "there are about 400 unfilled vacancies at this moment." He said budget plans called for addition of about 1,000 employes in the next two years.

Committee members questioned Janis at length about criticisms of mental hospitals in newspapers and elsewhere. He acknowledged most of them are "basically accurate" but said he believed the criticisms were aimed not at the department but at its limited resources and staffing problems.

He cited figures to show accomplishments during the past 10 years of mental health programs in Ohio, including a reduction in the mental hospital population from 26,000 in 1957 to 20,124 last June 30.

NAACP In Philadelphia Cuts Branch Into 5 Units

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is chopping its Philadelphia branch into five pieces in hopes of expanding membership and civil rights activities.

But, so far the major result is a rip-roaring battle among Negro leaders. One says it could destroy the movement.

The national NAACP is taking similar base-broadening action in other American cities where the Negro population is more than 200,000 — Houston, Dallas, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Omaha, Kansas City, Mo., Chicago and Detroit.

But in these places there is no serious struggle for power as in Philadelphia.

"They're trying to rip me into pieces," said Cecil Moore, a cigar-smoking attorney with a liking for expensive all-silk suits who has been local branch president since 1963.

"They'll never do it, though. I represent the masses of Negroes. They're with me, and they'll stay with me."

Moore, who is an independent candidate for mayor this fall, sought an injunction to stop the breakup of his power, but was turned down by both a lower court and the State Supreme Court, which said they had no jurisdiction in the case.

But Moore hinted this week he might seek further legal action.

Philip Savage, director of the NAACP's tristate region — Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware — has been assigned the task of organizing four separate units leaving Moore isolated as head of the north Philadelphia area where he lives.

Savage, a former school teacher who speaks quietly in contrast to Moore's raspy tones, estimates there are about 700,000 Negroes in the nation's fourth-largest city. The 1960 census had 535,032 Negroes, or 26.7 per cent of the 2 million populaion.

Only in New York and Chicago are there more Negroes.

Savage reported that the national NAACP had counted only 556 paid memberships from Philadelphia for the first four months of this year, compared with 4,000 at the end of 1966.

Moore disputed this. "We have 8,000 members today," he said.

"I'm not going to attack Moore," said Savage, "but when he took over the presidency in 1963 there were more than 27,000 members in the chapter, and I helped bring them in with a massive organizing drive."

Again from Moore: "We only had 4,000 when I was elected. I built it up to over 20,000. It has fallen to 8,000 now because of sabotage in the ranks."

Among those he blamed, Moore listed Bertram A. Levy, treasurer of the Philadelphia branch since 1963 until he resigned this week.

Levy, a Negro real estate assessor, charged Moore separated Philadelphia Negroes "more effectively and more efficiently than the Ku Klux Klan or the White Citizens Council." He said Moore did it "by embarrassing any Negro who believed in fair play."

"Theere wouldn't be any need for multiple branches," added Levy, "if Moore hadn't wrecked the city-wide chapter. And what he is still doing now could destroy the whole movement."

Moore, answering, said Levy is "now allied with the people who are against the masses."

Savage said Moore "contributed to the membership decline by castigating and threatening people of all races who opposed him."

Warren Reports Stamp Plan Continues To Gain In County

LISBON — Columbiana County residents in the federal food stamp program bought $18,933 worth of stamps in April and received $9,635 worth of bonus or free stamps.

The $28,578 total compares with $26,718 in March, according to Donald P. Hepp, county welfare director.

Wilbur Warren, food stamp program supervisor, said the program, initiated in December, is showing a steady gain in public acceptance.

Stamps were obtained by 511 families with 1,457 persons last month, 56 cases more than for the month before, Warren said.

He said more families should be eligible since the state has changed the maximum net income a family may receive and still participate in the program.

The maximum for one person was changed from $110 to $130; two persons, $180 to $200; three, $220 to $225; four, $260, no change; five, $290 to $295; six, $320 to $330; seven, $355 to $365; eight, $385 to $400; nine, and a $35 per month increase $415 to $435; 10, $445 to $470 for each additional person.

Warren said he is convinced the number of families certified to purchase stamps and receive additional free stamps does not begin to match the number eligible. Anyone interested may apply at his office in the Welfare Building, E. Washington St., Lisbon.

Speeding Charge Results In Fine And Suspension

LISBON — Judge J. L. MacDonald of Columbiana County Southwest Court fined Robert H. McCullough of Lisbon $50 and costs Tuesday when he pleaded guilty to speeding. Patrolmen said he was driving 100 miles an hour in a 45-mile zone.

Judge MacDonald suspended McCullough's license for 90 days.

The court fined Roger L. Babe of Carrollton $25 and costs on each of two counts — driving too fast for road conditions and failure to report property damage after an accident — and suspended his license for 30 days.

Fined for speeding were Thomas W. Bricker, 1678 Shadyside Ave., Salem; David F. Eberle, Lisbon R. D. 5, and Jack S. Anderson, Hartville, $15 and costs each; and Wilbur H. Jackson, Hanoverton, and Sue Ann Serafy, Wellsville R. D. 1, $10 and costs each.

Ralph D. Glover, Cleveland, cited for speeding, forfeited a $30 appearance bond. Forfeiting $20 bonds on the same charge were Raymond J. McChancy, Vermillion; William D. Jones, Kent, and Carl P. Hixon, Brookpark.

More Officials To Testify On Shafer's Budget Plan

HARRISBURG (AP) — Officials of the departments of Revenue and Labor and Industry were scheduled to testify today when a joint legislative committee resumed hearings on Gov. Shafer's proposed $1.861 billion state budget.

On Tuesday, Max Rosenn, secretary of public welfare, touched off a squabble among three Democratic members of the joint House-Senate appropriations committee by testifying that he personally favored turning the state's 10 general hospitals over to local communities.

"It would be a good thing for the department and the state and a good thing for the communities," Rosenn said.

The Public Welfare Department's proposed $639.6 million budget for the 1967-68 fiscal year includes a $15.3 million appropriation for operation of the hospitals, most of which are situated in the state's coal regions.

Rep. Eugene Gelfand, D-Philadelphia, asked Rosenn if the department had ever considered phasing out the hospitals.

Rosenn replied that this had been discussed, but the department thought the decision should be made by the legislature.

Gelfand suggested that appropriations for the hospitals be cut 20 per cent a year until they are completely phased out.

The proposal was strongly opposed by Rep. Joseph G. Wargo, D-Lackawanna, and Rep. James Musto, D-Luzerne, who complained that representatives of urban areas are too quick to suggest appropriation cuts for less populous counties.

"As long as I'm in Harrisburg," Musto said, "I intend to make sure that the people of the coal fields enjoy some of the fruits enjoyed by the big cities."

"Why don't you leave us alone?" Wargo asked Gelfand.

Gelfand replied that he had advocated reducing appropriations for the general hospitals for the past 10 years and would continue to do so.

"I think they could be eliminated by just refusing to put them in your budget," Gelfand told Rosenn. "It might be good medicine for some of these communities to have forced down their throats."

Both Wargo and Musto pointed out that the hospitals do not provide free care to anyone who wishes it, and fees paid by patients help support the institutions.

Rosenn said receipts at the hospitals totaled 7.5 million last year.

Budget Hearioe0jc—RZV

The state's general hospitals are situated in Ashland, Blossburg, Coaldale, Connellsville, Hazleton, Locust Mountain, Nanand Shamokin.

Efforts have been made repeatedly in past years to turn institutions over to local communities. All attempts have been unsuccessful.

Other major items in the department's budget include $39 million for public assistance, $118.7 million for mental health services, $10.9 million for services for children and youth, and $41.5 million for mental retardation programs.

A group of leaders of the Philadelphia Welfare Rights Organization attended Tuesday's hearing to protest what they claim is an inadequate request for public assistance funds.

However, Sen. George N. Wade, R-Cumberland, and Rep. Jack Seltzer, R-Lebanon, cochairmen of the panel, told the leaders they would not be permitted to speak, since the hearing was restricted to budget matters.

The Philadelphia group, which claims to represent 115,000 persons, contends the proposed budget "would force Pennsylvania's 380,000 welfare recipients to live at only 80 per cent" of the minimum living standard.

Congress Seen In No Hurry To Act On LBJ's Rail Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears in no hurry to act on President Johnson's proposals in the rail dispute.

It has until June 19 to do something to prevent a strike that Alan S. Boyd, secretary of transportation, says would have a disastrous impact on the economy.

Boyd's comment came in a letter to Chairman Harley O. Staggers of the House Commerce Committee who suggested Tuesday that no action by Congress might be the fairest approach, even if it means a strike.

Boyd, who testifies before the committee today, noted the Council of Economic Advisers estimated in 1963 that a one-month rail strike would cause a 13 per cent reduction in the Gross National Product and force 6.5 million people out of work.

Without congressional action, Boyd said, every indication points to a strike.

Congress may wait until just before the June 19 deadline until it acts. That is when the current 47-day no-strike, no-lockout period expires.

Under Johnson's proposal, a compulsory settlement would be enforced if management and the unions fail to reach agreement during an additional 90-day period. It would last at least through 1968.

Many congressmen want to avoid antagonizing the rail unions, which oppose compulsory solutions.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz made it clear to the House committee that he opposes converting the administration's plan for a compulsory settlement, if necessary, in the shopcraft dispute into permanent legislation for all transportation emergencies.

As for Staggers' suggestion that perhaps no action should be taken, Wirtz said that would be fine if it forces an agreement.

But he added that if it fails to work, "I don't think this country would tolerate a railroad strike."

The major issue in the shopcraft dispute is money.

Town Residents Going Batty Over Beep Beep Noise

SEDRO WOOLLEY, Wash. (AP) — The residents of Sedro Woolley are going batty over a "beep beep" that's been bugging them every night for a month.

The strange noise, which seems to flit through the wooded hills nearby, starts about 9:30 each night and continues until dawn. When the beeping begins, the usual frog and cricket noises cease, listeners report.

An estimated 400 persons drove out to investigate the mysterious sound Monday night, and two deputy sheriffs sent out to check the noise wound up directing traffic instead. Sheriff John Boynton issued a public appeal Tuesday for people to stay home.

The source of the sound couldn't be as dangerous as some of those looking for it, Boynton said.

He Got Cool Reception In Ice Cream Truck

CLEVELAND (AP) — A gunman got a cool reception from Harold Kelly Tuesday on entering Kelly's ice cream truck and demanding money.

Kelly hit him over the head with a gallon container of ice cream, knocked the man out the door. He heaved a few more gallons as the man fled.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Nine hundred and thirty-seven Pennsylvanians will be drafted in July, the State Selective Service System said Tuesday. The national call for that month is 19,900.

From Revenue, Labor, Industry

More Officials To Testify On Shafer's Budget Plan

HARRISBURG (AP) — Officials of the departments of Revenue and Labor and Industry were scheduled to testify today when a joint legislative committee resumed hearings on Gov. Shafer's proposed $1.861 billion state budget.

On Tuesday, Max Rosenn, secretary of public welfare, touched off a squabble among three Democratic members of the joint House-Senate appropriations committee by testifying that he personally favored turning the state's 10 general hospitals over to local communities.

"It would be a good thing for the department and the state and a good thing for the communities," Rosenn said.

The Public Welfare Department's proposed $639.6 million budget for the 1967-68 fiscal year includes a $15.3 million appropriation for operation of the hospitals, most of which are situated in the state's coal regions.

Rep. Eugene Gelfand, D-Philadelphia, asked Rosenn if the department had ever considered phasing out the hospitals.

Rosenn replied that this had been discussed, but the department thought the decision should be made by the legislature.

Gelfand suggested that appropriations for the hospitals be cut 20 per cent a year until they are completely phased out.

The proposal was strongly opposed by Rep. Joseph G. Wargo, D-Lackawanna, and Rep. James Musto, D-Luzerne, who complained that representatives of urban areas are too quick to suggest appropriation cuts for less populous counties.

"As long as I'm in Harrisburg," Musto said, "I intend to make sure that the people of the coal fields enjoy some of the fruits enjoyed by the big cities."

"Why don't you leave us alone?" Wargo asked Gelfand.

Gelfand replied that he had advocated reducing appropriations for the general hospitals for the past 10 years and would continue to do so.

"I think they could be eliminated by just refusing to put them in your budget," Gelfand told Rosenn. "It might be good medicine for some of these communities to have forced down their throats."

Both Wargo and Musto pointed out that the hospitals do not provide free care to anyone who wishes it, and fees paid by patients help support the institutions.

Rosenn said receipts at the hospitals totaled 7.5 million last year.

Budget Hearioe0jc—RZV

The state's general hospitals are situated in Ashland, Blossburg, Coaldale, Connellsville, Hazleton, Locust Mountain, Nan- and Shamokin.

Efforts have been made repeatedly in past years to turn institutions over to local communities. All attempts have been unsuccessful.

Other major items in the department's budget include $39 million for public assistance, $118.7 million for mental health services, $10.9 million for services for children and youth, and $41.5 million for mental retardation programs.

A group of leaders of the Philadelphia Welfare Rights Organization attended Tuesday's hearing to protest what they claim is an inadequate request for public assistance funds.

However, Sen. George N. Wade, R-Cumberland, and Rep. Jack Seltzer, R-Lebanon, co-chairmen of the panel, told the leaders they would not be permitted to speak, since the hearing was restricted to budget matters.

The Philadelphia group, which claims to represent 115,000 persons, contends the proposed budget "would force Pennsylvania's 380,000 welfare recipients to live at only 80 per cent" of the minimum living standard.

Congress Seen In No Hurry To Act On LBJ's Rail Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears in no hurry to act on President Johnson's proposals in the rail dispute.

It has until June 19 to do something to prevent a strike that Alan S. Boyd, secretary of transportation, says would have a disastrous impact on the economy.

Boyd's comment came in a letter to Chairman Harley O. Staggers of the House Commerce Committee who suggested Tuesday that no action by Congress might be the fairest approach, even if it means a strike.

Boyd, who testifies before the committee today, noted the Council of Economic Advisers estimated in 1963 that a one-month rail strike would cause a 13 per cent reduction in the Gross National Product and force 6.5 million people out of work.

Without congressional action, Boyd said, every indication points to a strike.

Congress may wait until just before the June 19 deadline until it acts. That is when the current 47-day no-strike, no-lockout period expires.

Under Johnson's proposal, a compulsory settlement would be enforced if management and the unions fail to reach agreement during an additional 90-day period. It would last at least through 1968.

Many congressmen want to avoid antagonizing the rail unions, which oppose compulsory solutions.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz made it clear to the House committee that he opposes converting the administration's plan for a compulsory settlement, if necessary, in the shopcraft dispute into permanent legislation for all transportation emergencies.

As for Staggers' suggestion that perhaps no action should be taken, Wirtz said that would be fine if it forces an agreement.

But he added that if it fails to work, "I don't think this country would tolerate a railroad strike."

The major issue in the shopcraft dispute is money.

Town Residents Going Batty Over Beep Beep Noise

SEDRO WOOLLEY, Wash. (AP) — The residents of Sedro Woolley are going batty over a "beep beep" that's been bugging them every night for a month.

The strange noise, which seems to flit through the wooded hills nearby, starts about 9:30 each night and continues until dawn. When the beeping begins, the usual frog and cricket noises cease, listeners report.

An estimated 400 persons drove out to investigate the mysterious sound Monday night, and two deputy sheriffs sent out to check the noise wound up directing traffic instead. Sheriff John Boynton issued a public appeal Tuesday for people to stay home.

The source of the sound couldn't be as dangerous as some of those looking for it, Boynton said.

Officers Named By Church Group

HAMMONDSVILLE — The WSCS of the Methodist Church elected officers during a meeting Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Harold Frampton of New Somerset.

They are: Mrs. Joan Wilson, president; Mrs. Roberta Frampton, vice president; Mrs. Rena Ketchum, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Russell, secretary; Mrs. Lena Crook, spiritual life, and Mrs. Hazel Williamson, supply secretary.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Clyde Crook. The program was presented by Mrs. Vance Sivard and Mrs. Frampton on the theme "Mothers." Roll call was answered with sayings of famous mothers.

Lunch was served 10 by Mrs. Frampton and Mrs. Crook.

Mrs. Golden Varty and Mrs. Robert Brown and children of Alliance were week - end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Vance Sivard.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: My husband's first wife was from a prominent New England family. She was also very beautiful. Her main trouble was a weakness for men.

Her husband got a divorce. But his mother, who was very proud to have this woman for a daughter-in-law, continues to treat her as if she were still in the family.

I do not mind that they have lunch together three times a week but I don't like her having their wedding pictures (now 20 years old) all over the house. Our children are at the question-asking stage and they keep inquiring, "Who is the lady with Daddy?"

Both my husband and I have asked her to remove the pictures, but they remain on the piano, on the mantle and on the vestibule wall. What can we tell the children?—M. BARRIST.

Dear M.: Tell the children the truth — that the lady was Daddy's first wife. Of course, it is unkind and thoughtless of your mother-in-law to behave this way, but obviously she intends to continue, for reasons of her own, and my advice is to say no more about it.

A House Divided

Dear Ann: We have three good children. Whenever one of our kids gets an honor or does well in something, my husband says, "My son was high-point man on the soccer team this year," or "My daughter was elected vice president of her class."

When we are waiting for the boy to return the family car and he is 20 minutes late, my husband screams, "Where in the world is your son?" "Why doesn't that kid have a sense of responsibility?"

Last night our daughter was talking on the telephone and she let the bathtub overflow. We discovered it when the living room ceiling began to drop. My husband blew his top and shrieked, "What's the matter with your daughter, anyway? She hasn't the brains of a 2-year-old!"

I'm sick and tired of listening to my husband brag about his children when they perform well, and complain about my children when they do poorly. How can I cure him of this? — MRS. IRRITATED.

Dear Mrs.: I wish I could suggest a cure but, alas, there is none. Your husband (and thousands of others) will continue to claim the kids when they do him proud, and give them to his wife when they disappoint him. Accept this as a figure of speech because it is just that — and nothing more.

Just Shopping

Dear Ann: I'm a woman 29 years old who wants to be married more than anything in the world. Yet I'm just about to break my fourth engagement. There must be something radically wrong with me and I don't know what it is.

My three former fiances are all married and seem to be getting along beautifully. Whenever I see them with their lovely families, I say to myself, "You fool, that could have been you!"

Can you help me overcome this frightening problem? — MONA.

Dear Mona: No, because I don't know what the problem is. I can only guess. Do you really want to be married, or are you just afraid of being single? Have you created a dream husband which no flesh-and-blood male can equal?

You need to talk about this with someone who can help you unmask your fears. And the sooner the better.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'Tin Can Lunch' Set On Thursday

WEIRTON — One of the most popular Steelmark Month activities, the Tin Can Luncheon for Women, will be held Thursday noon at the Masonic Temple in Steubenville.

1,650 School Districts Lagging

Southern Educators Due In Desegregation Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Office of Education will use Southern educators in a new attack this summer on the more than 1,650 Southern school districts that have lagged in meeting federal desegregation guidelines.

Plans are to hire about 35 Southern school administrators and officials for the Office of Education's annual summer compliance drive.

The new program marks a shift in tactics. Last summer about 100 law students, most of them from the North, were hired to work with and investigate Southern school districts having trouble complying with 1964 desegregation order.

"We're looking for Southern educators who have had some experience with desegregation," David E. Seeley, assistant education commissioner for equal education opportunity, said in an interview. "We're looking for Southerners who know how to do it and do it right."

The idea originated with Harold Howe II, U.S. commissioner of education, who sent out letters earlier this year to state and local school officials in 17 Southern and border states.

Howe requested the officials to recommend likely candidates for the summer compliance drive and offered to pay between $750 and $1,250 per month to the right men.

Despite the relatively high pay, Seeley said only about 20 candidates have been tentatively accepted, although he hopes the program will enlist 35 men.

"It's a problem," he said, "how to get people interested. One of the major problems is the general lack of responsibility among education professionals" in the South.

"By and large," Seeley said, "the education profession has not assumed its responsibilities" regarding desegregation compliance.

The educators will work with 65 part-time students this summer and visit districts throughout the South.

Last summer's law student brigade ran into considerable criticism throughout the South.

Statistics indicate that as of this year 12.5 per cent of Negro children are attending desegregated schools in 11 Southern states.

Recent Office of Education figures show 1,652 school districts in the South still have some segregated classes, although desegregation plans gradually are under way. An additional 219 districts are under federal court orders to desegregate.

The more than 330 Southern school districts which have been cited for noncompliance with the Civil Rights Act stand to lose at least $16 million in federal school aid.

1,650 School Districts Lagging

Southern Educators Due In Desegregation Drive

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Office of Education will use Southern educators in a new attack this summer on the more than 1,650 Southern school districts that have lagged in meeting federal desegregation guidelines.

Plans are to hire about 35 Southern school administrators and officials for the Office of Education's annual summer compliance drive.

The new program marks a shift in tactics. Last summer about 100 law students, most of them from the North, were hired to work with and investigate Southern school districts having trouble complying with 1964 desegregation order.

"We're looking for Southern educators who have had some experience with desegregation," David E. Seeley, assistant education commissioner for equal education opportunity, said in an interview. "We're looking for Southerners who know how to do it and do it right."

The idea originated with Harold Howe II, U.S. commissioner of education, who sent out letters earlier this year to state and local school officials in 17 Southern and border states.

Howe requested the officials to recommend likely candidates for the summer compliance drive and offered to pay between $750 and $1,250 per month to the right men.

Despite the relatively high pay, Seeley said only about 20 candidates have been tentatively accepted, although he hopes the program will enlist 35 men.

"It's a problem," he said, "how to get people interested. One of the major problems is the general lack of responsibility among education professionals" in the South.

"By and large," Seeley said, "the education profession has not assumed its responsibilities" regarding desegregation compliance.

The educators will work with 65 part-time students this summer and visit districts throughout the South.

Last summer's law student brigade ran into considerable criticism throughout the South.

Statistics indicate that as of this year 12.5 per cent of Negro children are attending desegregated schools in 11 Southern states.

Recent Office of Education figures show 1,652 school districts in the South still have some segregated classes, although desegregation plans gradually are under way. An additional 219 districts are under federal court orders to desegregate.

The more than 350 Southern school districts which have been cited for noncompliance with the Civil Rights Act stand to lose at least $16 million in federal school aid.

Dear Heloise; Have you ever crawled out of a sick bed to take some medicine, only to face a bottle you couldn't open because of a plastic band around the top?

I have used a paring knife, fork, ice pick and objects to pry off the wide plastic band around the top of the bottle, only to wind up with a wounded finger or hand.

Suddenly, after years of ignorance, I have found a solution!

Hold the bottle neck under your hot water faucet. The band will peel right off, or can be slipped down so that the top can be screwed off.

1966 Cigarette Sales Took Jump In Japan

TOKYO (AP) — Cigarette sales in Japan in 1966 increased over 1965 with filter - tipped brands being the more popular, the Japan Tobacco Monopoly Corporation reported.

The corporation said 1966 sales totaled 562,436,000,000 yen ($1,562,323,000), a 5.7 per cent hike over 1965 but below the average of 6.2 per cent growth rate of previous years.

The report said the 1966 sales were the equivalent of 183,590,000,000 cigarettes. It did not indicate whether the decline in sales resulted from reports that smoking contributed to cancer.

When making stew, you may want to tie the herb bouquet often called for in a small piece of cheesecloth. Such kitchen staples as celery leaves, parsley sprigs and bay leaves make a good bouquet.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Here Comes Batgirl!

Hal Humphrey

These are busy days around the TV film mills. New names are being stenciled on dressing-room doors with easy-to-rub-off paint. Publicity men are rewriting biographies to make each new "star" of a new fall series stand taller than an Olivier or a Bergman, while the stars themselves are constantly on the phone asking their agents, "Are you sure I'm firm for 13?"

Wardrobe departments are searching frantically for odd items like the proper buttons for Gen. Custer's uniform (the old boy is being reincarnated for ABC's "The Legend of Custer" and a mask which won't hide too much of Batgirl's face.

DON'T PANIC. Batgirl is joining Batman. She won't have her own series. Batman himself is even being cut down to one episode a week by ABC, which needed his Wednesday night spot for the aforementioned Gen. Custer.

Batgirl, in the delectable shape of Yvonne Craig, makes her debut with the Dynamic Duo when new episodes resume on Sept. 14.

As you comic book buffs know, Batgirl really is Commissioner Gordon's daughter, a nice girl with horn-rimmed glasses who is employed at Gotham City's public library. Hardly the type one would expect to see fighting off vile criminal types with a laser beam compact.

The petite (she stands 5 feet 4 and weighs 109 pounds Yvonne currently is being measured for a fancy jump suit of purple stretch Latex, a purple cape with gold lining, boots and her own utility belt with a full assortment of crime-fighting gadgets.

BATGIRL won't have a bat pole to slide down, and she's forced to change into her bat gear in the librarians' lounge. Instead of a batmobile she'll ride a "customized Yamaha" batcycle with a gold bow on back of the seat.

Yvonne already is an adept motorcyclist. She and ex-husband Jimmy Boyd, who got his show business start singing "I Saw Mommie Kissing Santa Claus," used to live next door to George Burns' son, Ronnie, and he loaned Yvonne his cycle whenever she wanted to run errands.

"You know, it's funny you asked about the bat pole, because I've already suggested to producer Howie Horowitz that I slide down the banister in my split-level apartment. I don't think he's going to go for it, though," says Yvonne.

-:-

"DID I TELL YOU, too, that Batgirl won't be chopping people up with karate?" Yvonne asks. "She'll be adroit but not violent. I think the reason Honey West didn't stay on TV was because she was always going around clobbering somebody, and you can't look feminine when you're doing that."

"Any romance between you and Robin?"

"Gosh, no. He's only 15½," Yvonne laughs.

Yvonne thinks perhaps her ballet training was a factor in getting the Batgirl role, since she will leap around a lot, besides riding into battle with Batman and Robin on a Yamaha. At 16 she was accepted for the Ballet Russe and later toured three years with that company.

-:-

"I'LL NEVER FORGET how incensed I got when my agent told me I was signed for a movie part at $750 a week for eight weeks. 'How dare they pay that kind of money when those poor girls in the ballet work so hard for $85 a week?' I screamed at him," Yvonne recalls.

She still keeps up with her ballet, but got mad all over again not long ago after seeing what the cameraman and director did with her ballet number in the movie "In Like Flint."

"I worked and sweated and bruised myself for that, but it was shot so far back, nobody could see me or the steps," she complains. "I guess this is one of the reasons I took the Batgirl part. I've decided they'll never remake 'Red Shoes' so I may as well forget it."

-:-

HER NEXT ambition? Well, Yvonne was in New York when Richard Burton was doing "Hamlet," and one night she saw him and Elizabeth Taylor leaving the theater amidst a crush of humanity that became so heavy the side of their car was pushed in.

"That's my ambition," says Yvonne, "to be trampled on."

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Teen-Ager Sees The Light

Ida Jean Kain

"What do you do with a teen-ager who just isn't interested in losing? She's 50 pounds overweight." This query from the girl's mother can best be answered with a story about a young lady who formerly wore size 22½ and didn't care what she looked like. The second mother reports:

"My daughter started putting on excess weight at the age of 10 and by her 15th birthday she weighed 201 pounds, height 5' 4". Pleading on my part, threats, promises — nothing could reach her. It's as if she never saw herself when she looked in the mirror. At age 13, I had to trick her into going to the doctor. She wouldn't speak to me for days. At that time she lost 18 pounds, gave up, regained them and more. She had no desire to lose. I was at my wits end.

"To set a good example, I went to the doctor and lost 42 pounds. The doctor said he could help my daughter only if she wanted to be helped. Finally, she asked to be taken to the doctor. . . .she wanted to reduce.

"SHE STARTED her reducing in mid - summer last year, with the help of a mild appetite depressant. I prayed she would not give up this time. She didn't. She was marvelous. Being young, she could whip into exercise, which helped her to lose fast. By Christmas time she could wear a size 12. She was a new girl. Her whole personality had changed. She came out of her cocoon and emerged a lovely young girl. She began to laugh more, became more active in school affairs and she was able to talk about her problems.

"By spring she tipped the scales at 120 neat pounds and was 5'5" tall. Here are her measurements:

	BEFORE	AFTER
Weight	201 Lbs.	120 Lbs.
Height	5' 4"	5' 5"
Bust	42½"	35"
Arm	13"	9"
Waist	36"	27"
Hips	47½"	35"
Thigh	26"	19"
Calf	17"	14"
Ankle	10"	9"

"Her weight loss was 81 pounds, with an overall loss of 42½ inches. So many people have been inspired and amazed by her achievement. The local TOPS Teen-age Group are using her "before" and "after" pictures as an incentive for other teens.

"Now she watches her weight faithfully. Even her acne has cleared up as a result of proper diet. It is a joy to see her in her size 11 dresses. She will never let herself go again.

"I hope my daughter's story will encourage some other overweight teen to go to the doctor and get on a balanced eating pattern that can change her into a happy, healthy girl."

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Here Comes Batgirl!

Hal Humphrey

These are busy days around the TV film mills. New names are being stenciled on dressing-room doors with easy-to - rub - off paint. Publicity men are rewriting biographies to make each new "star" of a new fall series stand taller than an Olivier or a Bergman, while the stars themselves are constantly on the phone asking their agents, "Are you sure I'm firm for 13?"

Wardrobe departments are searching frantically for odd items like the proper buttons for Gen. Custer's uniform (the old boy is being reincarnated for ABC's "The Legend of Custer" and a mask which won't hide too much of Batgirl's face.

DON'T PANIC. Batgirl is joining Batman. She won't have her own series. Batman himself is even being cut down to one episode a week by ABC, which needed his Wednesday night spot for the aforementioned Gen. Custer.

Batgirl, in the delectable shape of Yvonne Craig, makes her debut with the Dynamic Duo when new episodes resume on Sept. 14.

As you comic book buffs know, Batgirl really is Commissioner Gordon's daughter, a nice girl with horn-rimmed glasses who is employed at Gotham City's public library. Hardly the type one would expect to see fighiting off vile criminal types with a laser beam compact.

The petite (she stands 5 feet 4 and weighs 109 pounds Yvonne currently is being measured for a fancy jump suit of purple stretch Latex, a purple cape with gold lining, boots and her own utility belt with a full assortment of crime-fighting gadgets.

BATGIRL won't have a bat pole to slide down, and she's forced to change into her bat gear in the librarians' lounge. Instead of a batmobile she'll ride a "customized Yamaha" batcycle with a gold bow on back of the seat.

Yvonne already is an adept motorcyclist. She and ex-husband Jimmy Boyd, who got his show business start singing "I Saw Mommie Kissing Santa Claus," used to live next door to George Burns' son, Ronnie, and he loaned Yvonne his cycle whenever she wanted to run errands.

"You know, it's funny you asked about the bat pole, because I've already suggested to producer Howie Horowitz that I slide down the banister in my split-level apartment. I don't think he's going to go for it, though," says Yvonne.

-:-

"DID I TELL YOU, too, that Batgirl won't be chopping people up with karate?" Yvonne asks. "She'll be adroit but not violent. I think the reason Honey West didn't stay on TV was because she was always going around clobbering somebody, and you can't look feminine when you're doing that."

"Any romance between you and Robin?"

"Gosh, no. He's only 15½," Yvonne laughs.

Yvonne thinks perhaps her ballet training was a factor in getting the Batgirl role, since she will leap around a lot, besides riding into battle with Batman and Robin on a Yamaha. At 16 she was accepted for the Ballet Russe and later toured three years with that company.

-:-

"I'LL NEVER FORGET how incensed I got when my agent told me I was signed for a movie part at $750 a week for eight weeks. 'How dare they pay that kind of money when those poor girls in the ballet work so hard for $85 a week?' I screamed at him," Yvonne recalls.

She still keeps up with her ballet, but got mad all over again not long ago after seeing what the cameraman and director did with her ballet number in the movie "In Like Flint."

"I worked and sweated and bruised myself for that, but it was shot so far back, nobody could see me or the steps," she complains. "I guess this is one of the reasons I took the Batgirl part. I've decided they'll never remake 'Red Shoes' so I may as well forget it."

-:-

HER NEXT ambition? Well, Yvonne was in New York when Richard Burton was doing "Hamlet," and one night she saw him and Elizabeth Taylor leaving the theater amidst a crush of humanity that became so heavy the side of their car was pushed in.

"That's my ambition," says Yvonne, "to be trampled on."

Scott Urges Transportation Unit Review Proposed Canal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott, R—Pa., has urged the Department of Transportation to begin an immediate review of the proposed Lake Erie-Ohio River Canal Project.

In a letter to Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd Tuesday, Scott said that in his opinion the proposed canal project would fall clearly within the jurisdiction of Boyd's department.

Scott noted that in a previous letter Boyd had said that the only detailed studies of the project have been made by the Army Corps of Engineers.

"I urge that you obtain the Corps of Engineers report and begin an immediate review of the canal project," Scott said.

Hearings on the proposal begin this week in the Senate and House Appropriations Committees.

The impact of this ill-conceived canal project would be felt far bevond the immediate areas involved," Scott said. "The canal would not integrate with existing transport patterns in the immediate and adjacent areas, and would offer no benefits from the point of view of an overall transportation system. To the contrary, it would disrupt the functioning of the highly refined transportation network now in existence."

He charged that statistics used by proponents to justify continuation of the project are of doubtful validity.

"I am determined to do every thing within my power to see that no further expenditures of tax funds is made on this dubious project until an objective analysis based on the latest available information can be completed," Scott said.

'In Homecoming' Picked Best Play

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Drama Critics Circle has chosen "The Homecoming" as the best play of the 1966-67 Broadway season and "Cabaret" as the best musical.

Both winners were picked Tuesday in weighted run-off ballots after no show won majority support on first ballots.

Edward Albee's "A Delicate Balance," which won a Pulitzer Prize last week, was voted the second-best play and "I Do! I Do!" the second best musical.

"The Homecoming," a British play, was written by Harold Pinter. "Cabaret" was the work of Joe Masteroff, John Kander and Fred Ebb.

Nearly 500 Ohioans Victims In Viet, Pentagon Discloses

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Nearly 500 Ohio servicemen lost their lives in Vietnam in the 75-month period from Jan. 1, 1961, to March 1, 1967, the Pentagon reported Tuesday.

The list, regarded as the official count, included 388 combat deaths — fifth highest among all states — and 89 deaths from nonhostile causes.

Unofficial figures, compiled from day-to-day announcements of deaths from both families and the Pentagon to May 9, show that the state has lost nearly 500 men in combat alone.

Among the latest additions to the roll were three Ohioans among 20 Marines identified by the Pentagon Tuesday as combat fatalities. The Ohio list also included an Army man and a Marine who died of nonhostile causes.

The Marines killed in action were Cpl. Paul R. Kohr of Columbus, Pfc. John E. Sweesy of Parma and Robert C. Reynolds of Sandusky.

Dead of nonhostile causes are Army Spec. 4 John W. McCoy of Milford and Marine Pfc. Jay T. Hensley of Columbus.

State figures involve some discrepancies and varying factors to take into account.

The Pentagon explained that the vast majority of—but not all—servicemen give their birthplace as home on record, while others may list what they consider to be home, or the current address of primary next-of-kin such as a wife.

For example, a soldier who may never have been in Ohio could be listed among Ohio casualties if his wife or parents now reside in the state. The opposite could be true of a soldier who went to war from Ohio but whose wife or parents have moved to another state.

Crucible steels help the Postich family get things ready for summer

Warm weather not only makes the grass and bulbs pop out of the ground to soak up the sunshine, it has a similar effect on people. Most of us are anxious to get outside to clean up the lawn and flower beds, getting them ready for another season.

It was a Saturday when the George Postich family got out in force to do their yard work. Nine-year-old Kevin and twelve-year-old George worked with their mother readying flower beds. Laura, just three, kept busy just keeping out of everyone's way. Dad, a shipping clerk in the Cold Strip department at Midland works and a Crucible employe of 11 years, mowed the lawn.

To do their work, the family made good use of tools made of Crucible steels. Power lawn mowers, for example, have parts made of cold rolled steels. Pruning saws, grass flip blades and other gardening tools are more examples of how Crucible steels work for you.

2 IN MEMORIAM

GREEN — In loving memory of our brother and Dad, Arl, who passed away 3 years ago, May 10th, 1964.
The flowers we placed on his grave
May wither and decay
But the love for you who sleeps beneath
Will never fade away.
Sadly missed by sister Flossie, and his children.

3 CARD OF THANKS

WE will always remember the many acts of kindness and sympathy shown us by our friends and neighbors at the time of our sad loss, the death of our beloved husband and father, Kenny Burt Sr. Special thanks to the Rev. Miller, Calcutta United Presbyterian Church for his consoling words, and to the Arner Funeral Home.

Junior Editors Quiz on SEA MONSTERS

QUESTION: For about how many years was the coelacanth supposed to be extinct?

ANSWER: Men have long imagined that great monsters, typical of past periods, might still be lurking in the depths of the sea, to suddenly appear on the surface. Our purely imaginative drawing at the top illustrates this idea, featuring the long extinct reptile tylosaurus. None of these ancient creatures had ever showed up— until suddenly, in 1938, a big ungainly fish was hauled from a depth of 240 feet off the South African coast. It was like no living fish. It belonged to the group called coelacanths, which had appeared 350 million years ago and were thought to have become extinct from 50 to 60 million years ago. Notice the strangely-shaped tail, with the little second tail stuck on behind. The fins are of great interest, for the lower ones are mounted on legs, which the coelacanth is believed to use crawling over the bottom. The fish excited world interest. If a sea creature supposed to be extinct for 60 million years was suddenly found alive, what else might the mysterious depths of the sea have to offer?

You can braise beef short ribs in the oven if you use a tightly covered Dutch oven (or similar utensil). At a moderate temperature the ribs will take about 2 to 2½ hours to cook. A cup of water (or other braising liquid) should be enough for about 2½ pounds of ribs.

Miss Massachusetts In 1940 Boasts Two Beauty Queens

MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (AP) — Mrs. John H. Procter, Miss Massachusetts in 1940, carefully raised two daughters to be good wives and quite accidentally they became beauty queens like their mom.

"I never encouraged them to enter pageants," Mrs. Procter said in a family interview. "But I think it's wonderful that they have. A girl who can do something with her life before her marriage can give much more to her husband."

Daughter Pamela, 21, is a Miss Massachusetts for 1967, the one who will be in Miami Beach this summer to compete for the Miss U.S.A. and Miss Universe titles.

Daughter Kathryn, 19, is Miss North Shore and Miss Danvers for 1967 and competes for the Miss Massachusetts title in July which is a preliminary to the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City.

"We're in entirely different pageants," Pamela said, "so there's no competition between us. As a matter of fact, I entered Kathy in the Miss North Shore contest."

"And I," said Kathryn, "entered Pam in the Miss Massachusetts pageant because I had to get even."

Mrs. Procter, as Polly L. Connors of Bedford, was third runnerup for Miss America 27 years ago. She has used this experience as a guide for raising her girls.

She has taught them the beauty queen's graceful way of walking and sitting. She has sharpened their minds with questions similar to those asked finalists at beauty pageants.

"The idea," said Mrs. Procter, "is to train them to be ladies. The questions are to train them to think, to express themselves to be individuals.

"I make up questions like the ones I was asked as a finalist and I started them early. The development of a girl does not happen overnight."

U.S. Jobless Rose Slightly During April

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment edged up slightly last month, but the number of Americans with jobs rose 885,000, the Labor Department reported.

"Employment gains in retail trade, services, and government more than offset a decline in manufacturing employment and the slow pace of construction activity," said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The nation's jobless rate increased one-tenth of one per cent to 3.7 per cent, which Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the bureau described as a scarcely noticeable rise.

The actual number of unemployed dropped 300,000 to 2.7 million, but the jobless rate was up because of the expanded labor force and the larger number of employed. The bureau also adjusts the figures in line with seasonal expectations.

Total employment was up more than 400,000 above seasonal expectations.

Ross said the figures showed that employment continues to be very strong and that over-all unemployment is about the same as a year ago.

The only exceptions to the generally bright picture were in manufacturing, where employment continued a decline that began last December, and in construction, which did not get off to its usual spring pickup.

Ross said the construction lag was largely due to the time it takes the industry to gear up again after a slow period.

"The money is there, the demand is there," in the housing market, and construction will probably start climbing again soon, Ross said.

The bureau reported that unemployment insurance claims were some 300,000 abovt a year ago, largely because of the decline in manufacturing work. The employment gains in the economy at the same time were largely among workers not covered by federal - state jobless insurance, he said.

The bureau reported at the same time that most of the nation's manpower shortages have eased, although the demand for workers remains strong.

One of the most severe shortages that still exists is among medical personnel, including doctors and nurses, Ross said.

Ohio's Homemakers Await Short Course

LISBON — Registrations for the annual extension homemakers' short course June 14-16 at Ohio State University must be received in Columbus by June 6.

Ann Overturf, Columbiana County extension agent for home economics, says county homemakers may obtain more information and registration cards at the extension office, 113 S. Market St.

The cost for the three days is $20.25 — $7 for registration and $13.25 for meals and dormitory. Each homemaker may select one or two classes in the home economics area and one or more classes in related subjects.

Adult moths do not eat furs and woolens; their tiny larvae are the guilty parties.

County's Extension Service Will Mark 50th Anniversary

Members of the Columbiana County extension advisory committee are in charge of plans for the 50th anniversary of the extension service in the county.

They are: Mrs. Wayne Herron, Salem R. D. 2, secretary; James A. Rhodes Jr., Salem R. D. 2; Charles Morlan, Leetonia R. D. 1; Glen Bartholow, Salem R. D. 3; Mrs. Ed Wilhelm, Salem R. D. 3; Mrs. Ed Serafy, Wellsville R. D. 1.

Joseph Papania, New Waterford R. D. 1; Richard Cope, Leetonia R. D. 1; Frank Murray, Lisbon R. D. 4; Floyd Lower, Lisbon; Allen Dickey, Lisbon R. D. 5, and Walter Holmes, Winona, chairman.

The anniversary event will be held June 13 at Crestview High School, beginning with a chicken barbecue dinner from 6 to 8 p. m.

Former members of the county extension service staff are being invited. Ed Kirby, associate director of the Ohio Extension Service, will attend.

The principal speaker will be Henry Schriver, state representative - farmer - humorist from Lorain who gives his entire talk in rhyme.

Tickets may be obtained from 4-H members, community homemakers' groups and the extension office at Lisbon.

Miss Massachusetts In 1940 Boasts Two Beauty Queens

MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (AP) — Mrs. John H. Procter, Miss Massachusetts in 1940, carefully raised two daughters to be good wives and quite accidentally they became beauty queens like their mom.

"I never encouraged them to enter pageants," Mrs. Procter said in a family interview. "But I think it's wonderful that they have. A girl who can do something with her life before her marriage can give much more to her husband."

Daughter Pamela, 21, is a Miss Massachusetts for 1967, the one who will be in Miami Beach this summer to compete for the Miss U.S.A. and Miss Universe titles.

Daughter Kathryn, 19, is Miss North Shore and Miss Danvers for 1967 and competes for the Miss Massachusetts title in July which is a preliminary to the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City.

"We're in entirely different pageants," Pamela said, "so there's no competition between us. As a matter of fact, I entered Kathy in the Miss North Shore contest."

"And I," said Kathryn, "entered Pam in the Miss Massachusetts pageant because I had to get even."

Mrs. Procter, as Polly L. Connors of Bedford, was third runnerup for Miss America 27 years ago. She has used this experience as a guide for raising her girls.

She has taught them the beauty queen's graceful way of walking and sitting. She has sharpened their minds with questions similar to those asked finalists at beauty pageants.

"The idea," said Mrs. Procter, "is to train them to be ladies. The questions are to train them to think, to express themselves to be individuals.

"I make up questions like the ones I was asked as a finalist and I started them early. The development of a girl does not happen overnight."

U.S. Jobless Rose Slightly During April

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment edged up slightly last month, but the number of Americans with jobs rose 885,000, the Labor Department reported.

"Employment gains in retail trade, services, and government more than offset a decline in manufacturing employment and the slow pace of construction activity," said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The nation's jobless rate increased one-tenth of one per cent to 3.7 per cent, which Commissioner Arthur M. Ross of the bureau described as a scarcely noticeable rise.

The actual number of unemployed dropped 300,000 to 2.7 million, but the jobless rate was up because of the expanded labor force and the larger number of employed. The bureau also adjusts the figures in line with seasonal expectations.

Total employment was up more than 400,000 above seasonal expectations.

Ross said the figures showed that employment continues to be very strong and that over-all unemployment is about the same as a year ago.

The only exceptions to the generally bright picture were in manufacturing, where employment continued a decline that began last December, and in construction, which did not get off to its usual spring pickup.

Ross said the construction lag was largely due to the time it takes the industry to gear up again after a slow period.

"The money is there, the demand is there," in the housing market, and construction will probably start climbing again soon, Ross said.

The bureau reported that unemployment insurance claims were some 300,000 abovt a year ago, largely because of the decline in manufacturing work. The employment gains in the economy at the same time were largely among workers not covered by federal - state jobless insurance, he said.

The bureau reported at the same time that most of the nation's manpower shortages have eased, although the demand for workers remains strong.

One of the most severe shortages that still exists is among medical personnel, including doctors and nurses, Ross said.

Ohio's Homemakers Await Short Course

LISBON — Registrations for the annual extension homemakers' short course June 14-16 at Ohio State University must be received in Columbus by June 6.

Ann Overturf, Columbiana County extension agent for home economics, says county homemakers may obtain more information and registration cards at the extension office, 113 S. Market St.

The cost for the three days is $20.25 — $7 for registration and $13.25 for meals and dormitory. Each homemaker may select one or two classes in the home economics area and one or more classes in related subjects.

Adult moths do not eat furs and woolens; their tiny larvae are the guilty parties.

County's Extension Service Will Mark 50th Anniversary

Members of the Columbiana County extension advisory committee are in charge of plans for the 50th anniversary of the extension service in the county.

They are: Mrs. Wayne Herron, Salem R. D. 2, secretary; James A. Rhodes Jr., Salem R. D. 2; Charles Morlan, Leetonia R. D. 1; Glen Bartholow, Salem R. D. 3; Mrs. Ed Wilhelm, Salem R. D. 3; Mrs. Ed Serafy, Wellsville R. D. 1.

Joseph Papania, New Waterford R. D. 1; Richard Cope, Leetonia R. D. 1; Frank Murray, Lisbon R. D. 4; Floyd Lower, Lisbon; Allen Dickey, Lisbon R. D. 5, and Walter Holmes, Winona, chairman.

The anniversary event will be held June 13 at Crestview High School, beginning with a chicken barbecue dinner from 6 to 8 p. m.

Former members of the county extension service staff are being invited. Ed Kirby, associate director of the Ohio Extension Service, will attend.

The principal speaker will be Henry Schriver, state representative - farmer - humorist from Lorain who gives his entire talk in rhyme.

Tickets may be obtained from 4-H members, community homemakers' groups and the extension office at Lisbon.
